Heya,

I was wondering if anyone knows something about a new season of POI, I watched the last episode about 1 year ago and I can't wait for a new season. But heard they are going to cancel season 6.

What did you think about POI?

I just finished the show recently. Loved it. I don't think it's coming back though.

POI ? watched like 2 seasons, and after that i felt bored. These reese(rambo) fights were kinda annoying and way too unnatural.

I have watched POI from the start, and loved it. I have watched the series a few times now haha, mostly because I like the idea behind it and it had a good idea. Not to mention the writers were psychic and knew about PRISIM before it was leaked.....

I was furious the last season was cut short, but I mean for the last minute cut, they did a okay job finishing the story. I would love to to see a sequel maybe, but as long as it doesn't ruin it, and it some way needs to have Finch in it somehow as a semi-large role. The show was getting repetitive so I know why they took it away, but I still loved it!

My favorite part of the series was closer to the end when Finch started going darker and vengeful. It was done very well showing how he was just done and ready to end it. My favorite character was first most Finch, followed by Elias, and then Root and John.

Sorry for the bump but this might be a good place to post.

In S:3 E:12 (Alethia) Root is Geld captive by Control and claims at a point that the Machine was beeping Morse code at 15kHz so she could hear her but control did not. I could hear the beeps but I am curious if they actually used that frequency in the show. Did anyone happen to not hear it? I don't really have anyone over the age who can actually test this theory.

If they did like I think they do, then that just is another reason this show was so good and deserves more shows of it. They put a lot of details into the show and a lot of it is not very far fetched.

Maybe one day they will do a reboot of the world after the machine war

Used to love the show but recently it feels like they are just trying to push the idea on us. It just doesnt want to fit
