I am not no, I have sold 30+ copies on another forum and can provide vouches from there at request.

another forum. i mean sure thats fine and all, but unless you have some hq members on here take a look at it as well it could hurt sales imo ?

not sure people are so trusty of random "people" from other forums not sure people are so trusty of random "people" from other forumsI mean they're members on here as well. I'll see if I can get them to vouch on thread here.

Like said above, vouches from other forums are worthless here.

And i still don't see vouches from people here, so.

In order to get some more interest and perhaps sales you should try and accumulate some reviews. thoughts on this.

It will sure help having a on-forum vouch, if you deem me trusted enough ofcourse.
