Wespa - February 28, 2018, 3:04 pm

Hi, my name is Wespa, and this is my recruitment application.

State/Country:

Living in Switzerland however I'm from Finland.

What your main skills are:

Social engineering, Graphics and Hardware maintenance.

Which section of HF is your favourite? Are you active in that?:

My absolute favorite section is the marketplace, I am active there daily, either replying to threads or making them. Secondly I like to be active on the groups I am part of to the best of my ability. However I do like to post and search the deals section as well.

Tell us a little bit about yourself:

My name is Max aka Wespa and I come from Finland however at the moment I study in Switzerland. I've always been interested in the grey area of the internet which has lead me to different places and situations that I have to say have been worth it. I have a huge interest in marketing and the graphics behind it which is why I have been making free thread designs for the gfx section in order to learn more. I believe that I am decent at social engineering, my latest product was an Alienware laptop for $5 which is a decent purchase if I can say so myself. I like to learn, teach and contribute.

Are you willing to take part in group projects? [Yes/No]:

Yes

Anything else you would like to say:

Hope to hear from you guys soon, seems like an amazing group.

Zayn. - June 2, 2018, 11:02 am

State/Country: Denmark

What your main skills are: Active web developer (HTML, PHP, JS and CSS), the best dating and life advice for men, fitness & losing weight expert. I'm very good at doxing as well, I used to do private offers and can still do.

Which section of HF is your favourite? Are you active in that?: Innuendo and Currency Exchange. I used to be extremely active in Innuendo and gave men advice 24/7, but now I'm less active there and more active in Currency Exchange, as I started a CE business. I'm still active in Innuendo from times to times. As extra, I am extremely active in PMs. I exchange around 50-100 PMs a day about exchanges and women & life advice.

Tell us a little bit about yourself: I am Zayn, a businessman and web developer. Self-employed, working full time as a web developer and exchanger. I learned all my skills by myself, from experience and from reading a lot of self-improvement eBooks/videos/articles (1000s of hours, literally).

I had 3 successful projects in my life. First, it was when I was 13 years old and I owned a Minecraft server that turned out to be incredibly successful (1-2k unique people a day joined). Sold the server and moved on to my new life, a web developer. I created and owned Coinventory - a cryptocurrency portfolio manager. The website became successful and I sold it for $10k to a company. My newest and most recent project is CryptoPad, which is yet to be officially released but can be tested at <https://www.cryptopad.net/>. It's a website for cryptocurrency enthusiasts that gives them access to various tools to improve their trading and investment experience.

Are you willing to take part in group projects? [Yes/No]: Yes. As long as it's fair for both sides, I am more than willing to take part in group projects. I love doing teamwork, as long as everyone on the team takes a part in the project.

Anything else you would like to say: About my new project, CryptoPad, I am looking forward to finding people that can join me in the journey. My goal is to take over all the cryptocurrency websites that do X and put them all into one single website, CryptoPad. Say goodbye to CoinMarketCap, calculators, forums and let CryptoPad be the only one.

Similarity - June 2, 2018, 11:34 am

State/Country:
United Kingdom

What your main skills are:
My main skills would be gaming and cyber security. I have a passion for both and really enjoy doing them.

Gaming:
- I am a PS4 player. I mainly play Fortnite, H1Z1 and sometimes WWII as i love the Battle Royale games aswell as FPS games. If i was to join my main goal would be to socialise and make more friends to play with.

Cyber Security:
- I am a beginner in Cyber Security as I have only just recently started researching about it. I do Computer Science at school and love to learn about it. If i were to join Superior i would try to expand my knowledge in Cyber Security and use it to help/teach others. Knowledge is power.

Which section of HF is your favourite? Are you active in that?:
My favourite section on HF would be Game and Hack. I am mostly now active in Hack as I would love to expand my knowledge. I also favour the subforum Game but am not that active on that. I mostly lurk in search for others to play with.

Tell us a little bit about yourself:

I am 16 and in my last year of school. I like to do various activities such as Football, Rugby and MMA (Mixed Martial Arts). I have an interest in the military as one day i hope to serve.

Are you willing to take part in group projects? [Yes/No]:

Yes, I am willing to take part and even run them if i was needed to.

Anything else you would like to say: Thank you for taking the time to read this. I hope you consider me joining Superior and I would like to wish a good luck to all those applying.

Elitas - June 2, 2018, 1:18 pm

Uhm, I don't believe this recruitment is still open? Someone just decided to take a chance and bump it!
