Thread: Would you ever join the CIA?

Gliese - February 10, 2018, 3:15 pm

It looks like a pretty cool organization to join. You spy on other countries for the U.S. government, manipulate their elections, stage military coups, and you get paid a lot of money.

There's a big difference between CIA in real life and CIA in movies.

It's really not that exciting as it may look like. You're involved in secret projects which you're most of the time not even aware of. You can't talk about what you do with anyone either.

Renovatum - February 10, 2018, 3:20 pm

Yes, but I would have to settle on a few conditions of my own that are non-negotiable. I understand that most won't be up for discussion, but a few are deal-breakers.

I'm actually interested in playing a role within one of the set sectors of the CIA. Working towards it.

mawrek - February 10, 2018, 3:21 pm

i'd join any kind of corporation as long as i get paid colossal amount of money so i can finally stop living the peasant life. anything, unless it involves some demonic rituals and weird shit like that frostbite - February 10, 2018, 3:22 pm

Sitting there on a computer, answering phone calls for 12+ hours a day. It looks great on movies but in real life it won't be as exciting.

Xerotic - February 10, 2018, 3:22 pm

In a tech capacity? Definitely. Otherwise the NSA would be fun. It would test your mind.

Saltpeter - February 10, 2018, 3:23 pm

It would heavily depend on what my responsibilities would be.

Siciliano - February 10, 2018, 3:23 pm

How can I join this CIA team? Seems really interesting represented that way haha.

Smile? - February 10, 2018, 3:25 pm

If they would pay good , why not.

Sigma - February 10, 2018, 4:32 pm

Yes, I would join them. They pay good and have good benefits.

LuX98 - February 10, 2018, 4:41 pm

Well, I'm not an American citizen which is a requirement but they get good enough pay and benefits so if offered I probably would. It is obviously a lot more tedious than depicted in the movies. Jason Bourne is badass, i wouldn't be

In real life I would end up being a writer for some of their libraries. No action, just one thing I love doing- shitposting on the internet.

DeadKube - February 10, 2018, 5:05 pm

Far better, safer and better paying agencies. Depends on what you want to achieve in life, I suppose.

Sigma - February 10, 2018, 5:07 pm

Doing some top secret work would be pretty interesting. But I would not want my family to be in danger.

Prophett - February 11, 2018, 9:23 am

Not really. Work would be your number 1 priority.

You would most likely need to travel often too.

snappari2 - February 11, 2018, 10:28 am

It kind of depends on the amount of money I'd make aswell as my responsibilities/tasks.

Pre-eminent - February 11, 2018, 10:32 am

Sure why not, they usually have a very nice salary at these type of organizations. I'm not an American citizen tho, so I would never be offered a job there.

Silent Uprising - February 11, 2018, 11:00 am

In the future I'd like to have a job at the NSA.
