Thread: Big possible legal problem in the e whore section...

myBussyisbleeding - February 13, 2018, 5:56 am

Um yea ewhoring may not be illegal. But thats only under very strict circumstances i believe..

- you give people what they want
- not using copyrighted material..

But i've noticed lots of copyrighted material is being used which makes 95% of the packs and everything else in that section highly illegal...

From experience.. sorry guys but one girl found out on twitter and she's a big star. i told her where i got it from and she said she is 99% sure she's takign serious legal action...

There's always some unauthorized use of intellectual property indeed.

Odds on the person in question actually trying to sue you is almost zero though. If you're really worried just delete your account & all pictures of the girl in question.

if you want to take the risk, do it, no one is going to force you, but theres always a chance that someone could take legal action against you, has happened, and will always happen
