is it possible to play the same game while boosting?

If you really wanted it to run for 6k hours in 1 go you can.

Our systems won't crash or restart unexpectedly unlike other similar site.

When you want to play a game the FreeHourBoost will wait and resume boosting your hours after you quit playing again.

I was trying the 'Auto-Restart' function, that's what you referring to, right?

So I played a game, exited the game and it still didn't restart, when I manually wanted to start I had to re-enter my steam guard code.

is that because I have steam guard enabled?

thank you

After you quit your game it will auto restart the boosting after 30 minutes. It might of not hit that delay yet?

Reminder: Free plans can be renewed for free when you run out of time.

Steam has changed the privacy settings for games and in-game titles. This doesn't effect FreeHourBoost.com at all though and you can still Boost your game hours.

Make sure to set your "Game Details" to public and uncheck the hidden playtime thing if you want people to be able to see your game status like it was before this update. (In your steam privacy settings)
