Thread: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5801317>

Description:

So I messaged the user about the read listed above about getting $1,250 paypal for in exchange of $1,000 bitcoin. He asked for my skype and I sent him my skype. He added me. Said that I wasn't trusted and for me to go first. He supposedly is very trusted so i went first. Sent bitcoin then he kept going on and on about him not receiving it yet. I sent him the link to track it and never once said anything about the wrong btc address. Then I scroll up the chat to make sure I sent to right btc address then all of a sudden it shows that he edited btc address in the skype chat then goes on saying I sent it to the wrong btc address. Keeps blaming it on me and says its my fault even though he knows he is in the wrong and edited the message. I just want my money back and for him to stop this abuse of power.

Proof:

Also here's a video of me logging into skype via online version through normal and incognito tab, recorded it through my phone so it proves the video even more than it already does. Why would he delete every single message sent to me if he was innocent? Oh wait, he isn't innocent and it just proves to everyone more than he is scamming and trying to hide it up. I dont understand how many times I have to prove this skid is a scammer. I will gladly go on teamviewer or join.me and open and reopen my skype through the desktop version and online version if anyone does not believe me.

Proof he edited the btc address:

Looks legit.

Sad to see that you got scammed, he neg'd me for telling him to fix his problem.

Cryzonservices - February 18, 2018, 11:13 am

I have no idea what are you trying to do.

Firstly you asked me to send %50 %50.

Then you accepted immediately to sending the full amount. (WHICH IS SENT TO ANOTHER BTC WALLET - probably to your friend the6ix)

I have nothing to say basically a trash report.

I asked to send 50/50 then you said no because im not trusted. So I sent payment, then you edited btc address on skype and blamed it on me for sending to wrong address. Did you not know I can see any edits on skype?

I like the fact that you will not address the fact that you edited the btc address after payment

I will be satisfied no matter what, if I get my money back or he gets banned. $1,000 isn't a whole lot compared to everything I have. But everything adds up. Just I hate people who try to scam others and use their "trustedness" to act like they are not in the wrong

Biggy - February 18, 2018, 11:30 am

Talking with OP rn to locate this guy, people do not understand that even if you're behind a computer screen without using your name are still traceable in MANY ways. This kid is going to ruin his life for fraud records.

He just removed me off of skype now, looks like he is doing an exit scam

Also he just put me on his ignore list, exit scam lol

James Burnham - February 18, 2018, 7:57 pm

The fact that he refused payments in increments just by saying "that is risky" was a huge sign that something was up.

Dang, sorry for your loss.

-$1k... No way he will give it back considering he tried to cover it up unless he/she suddenly gets a conscience.

Sucks the scam was for a big amount too. Make sure to use a MM for most deals here.

EDIT: Make sure to include a link to this scam report in his rep.

My point. Bring in someone else. And post the proof from YOUR skype.

Hell, I'd take a minute to look and confirm. How does someone come in to backup Cryzon and neither of them posted a picture of the supposed unedited skype convo.

MEANWHILE op apparently has some hidden agenda to specifically slander Cryzon with a fake deal dispute.

So you're denying that you deleted every single message? And that the very legit video I just added. I recorded that through my phone and logged into my Skype via online. I can't fake any of that. Have you not seen the video that I added? You're just ignoring everything I said yesterday about how you removed every single message sent to me. Why don't you do another video with the online version of skype since they are stored in a database rather than locally and show everyone that you never edited the chat. You don't get the point kid. Skype desktop version = Online version. I removed the logs message AFTER showing the proofs to people on Team Viewer to 6 hackforum members. And after recording the video. Why haven't you took the video before? You took the video DIRECTLY AFTER THE REMOVING. I have live proofs and i have the video proof. You just have the photoshopped proof. I haven't even think about taking a video on online version because i never use it. I could do it but I removed all the skype logs because my friends warned me to do it. They said you contacted some people to do something with my original BTC wallet. Black hacking stuff. It is possible to edit logs on the desktop version, all chats on the desktop version is loaded instantly without lag because it is all saved on your files locally so you have more saved chats than what the online one shows. If you are so innocent then why can't you make another video with online version?

Also I never thought about making a video because I thought my proof spoke for itself but you're just blowing this out of proportion. My video proof proves everything.

You just caught yourself in a lie. One moment you're saying that you removed everything from your computer then the next you're saying that you didn't remove every message? Also what the guy supposedly did did not affect the chats you sent being removed. It shows time stamps for every single message deleted. Shows different minutes so you obviously went one by one removing every single message.

Btw you did not show everything already, if you can prove that didn't edit the message through the online version then I will close this but I can 100% promise you that you cannot do so.

Also literally no one that is smart would tell you to remove all chat logs with the person that you have a deal dispute with. The only reason why you would remove those messages sent is to try to hide stuff up. No one would tell you to remove those logs because if you are innocent like you say you are then they would prove you innocent. Also if you are supposedly afraid of your btc address being out there then you shouldn't being receiving btc. I have no clue what you can do with a btc address personally.

Also I think you would know what he did because I don't think you would let a random guy have access to your computer.

Last thing is that I think we should get an admin to look at this rather than have us go back and forth about this shit. Most people can see that you're scamming me but you keep saying you did not. I have proven everything that I have needed. We all know that you're never gonna admit that you scammed me so you're probably just gonna get banned

Personally I did not know that you can be banned for messaging admin to look at this. I have been on other forums and every other forum has admin look at deal disputes/scam reports to make a decision if there is any dispute.

Why don't you record the online version? Also I have not once said a lie to you and you wouldn't believe me when I said you can edit skype app stuff. Of course you have to wait until other people say that you could. This just bit you in the ass by deleting all messages. Now you can't even prove what you supposedly say is the truth. In reality the truth is that you edited btc address after payment then deleted every message sent to me so I cannot do a video proof of you editing it. he supposedly said that he was told to delete everything by someone due to security reasons but literally no one would say that if you're innocent. It came from the BTC address 13AdiHhpbj6atDo9mJv1ZRSymZVy7ADF9N

Now if we take a look at this BTC address transactions:
<https://live.blockcypher.com/btc/address/13AdiHhpbj6atDo9mJv1ZRSymZVy7ADF9N/> we will see that it received 0.10592905 BTC. Here is the transaction link:

This transaction link is the same link that Threatable posted in the original post. It doesn't get any simpler than that.

Anyone that believes cryzons pathological lies as he attempts to cover up his fail of a scam is pathetic. How do you all feel defending a scammer?

Why would anyone in their right mind write up a fake scam report? For what reason? He benefits nothing from it.

Just look at cryzons replies "DOX ME HACK ME I DON'T CARE". He's a belligerent liar and tried to pull a quick sham. Sad.

KyFu - February 20, 2018, 11:39 pm

You have been proven wrong many times that you can edit out the edited icon. You have not once gave everyone a legit excuse for you deleting the messages. It's clear, you have scammed me and everyone sees that now. Btw I would just admit to scamming me because I'm getting sick and tired of saying the same shit again to you. I told the guy that originally said to dox you that I didn't want to pursue that but you really aren't giving me any other option

Oh yea I forgot to say that you keep adding that "proof" video to most of your post. No one believes you anymore and that video just is annoying to see over and over again. I'm not even going to look into this, I know it's true, Cryzon is a SCAMMER, please ban Cryzon, he should not be allowed to make money on this platform, I even went as far as giving him generous access to my coinbase account when he was supposedly "fucked" and I helped him pass his English test because he's some foreign college student, and he straight scams me $85. I don't even like helping people, I just figured whatever he's made smooth exchanges in the past so I'll help, now I don't even give people a chance or lend willingness to assist with favors, this vermin trash Cryzon literally changed my optimism in humanity, when I finally sent him a pretty large amount of AGC he finally cuts ties then and just pretends it was invalid even though I always verify before I exchange. After reading all 15 pages, I have concluded that OP is in the right. He posted a video of him logging into both the online Skype and the desktop version. It doesn't show any signs of tampering.

Cryzon, on the other hand, provided a pic of the top and bottom parts of his screen being cut off. This can only lead to suspicion of tampering. He could have easily edited stuff on the desktop version, and when showing the online version, he could have easily either inspect element it or saved a HTML complete file of a skype with edited chat logs. Not being able to see the URL is a big red flag.

The second reason why cryzon appears to be scamming is that he removed all messages of his chats. No person who is innocent would remove or destroy any evidence that would prove them guilty, but here we can see he has done precisely the opposite.

Another reason is that why would OP open up a DD? It does not benefit him in any way even if he did post a false DD. All he would be doing is getting a high-level user banned.

Morals to be learned from this experience

- Always use an MM for large transactions
- Always ask for repeat of BTC address, so you are 100% you are sending it to the correct address, and the other person knows it as well
- ALWAYS video record whatever you do with the buyer from the minute you start talking to them - to the minute you finished your dealings; remembering to show proof of his identity (skype user, discord tag, etc.) at the beginning of the video to ensure your evidence is valid. Video recording your screen from an external source (i.e., phone on a tripod) is a surefire way of making sure your proof is impossible to not be valid (which the OP has done).

Why is your address bar on chrome cropped out? Now if you were to show us the chat logs by

First off, please stop adding your proof video to literally every single post you make. It's just getting annoying because I don't think we need to see it a million times. And second, again you didn't see my video if you're just saying I only have pictures. I also like that you also agree that it's best to record from an external

Device which I actually did for my video. Did you do that? No you did not

Have you not read the many posts about saying you can edit the skype logs through your computer to edit ANYTHING for skype chats. So even a video with the desktop version of skype is invalid and is not considered proof

He repeats the same post again and again and gives positive rep to random users to get repped back so he can get the chance to finesse more users. I have seen that shit before.

What are we able to do to stop it? Because I do not want another person to be in the same situation as me. I also see he is getting random rep for people saying that this deal dispute is fake, the probably only read like one page or 2. If they read it all then they would be changing their mind but people are ignorant

Bump, this thread deserve to be seen by everybody!

Well, after the btc wallet matches, why this kid is not banned yet? The OP just did a mistake to now show first the btc transaction and the history, so everyone would skip the "video skype" part, since we can lookup the transactions and confirm that cryzon received the money.

Well it's not that, Staff just doesn't get involved with deal disputes and they say that in the forum rules so all you can really do is learn from your mistakes and move on. Like you said, $1000 isn't a lot in the grand scheme of things anyways.

Crypt - February 24, 2018, 4:15 pm

Not sure why you believed you could trust him with that kind of money. I would have bailed out as soon as he wouldn't let you send half first.

He probably had a party for his birthday :D , i really dont understand how he could be so naive to act and defending himself and showing shitty proofs, since everyone can lookup and see that he received the money? And even people on second -third -fourth page, defending him and saying clearly that OP edited his photo, i wonder if the kid offered them some money or he begged them to defend him and act like op is lying.

I personally think he told them that he would give money to them if they said I faked it. Since anyone in the right mind would see all the proof I gave and know he is the scammer

What's the point in a deal dispute section if the moderators don't moderate it when it is clear someone has been wronged? Is there a reason why mods don't get involved in deal disputes? I thought that was the whole point of a mod, to moderate and perform the tasks needed to maintain order. I'm just curious as the OP was scammed $1000 and nothing can be done about it? Despite the proof.

I personally agree too but I guess that is how this website works

LANCE4BLES - February 25, 2018, 10:02 pm

Honestly I dont know who is right and who is wrong but I can tell anyone who sees my post to stop dealing with anyone on this site or anyone period while going first! Use a very trusted middleman to end all this dd drama! Honestly if you arnt dealing with these people in real life then dont trust some thirsty nerd with your money that you worked hard to earn!

Banning scammers does nothing. They will just come back on a new account and repeat.

Btw he had another scam report. Should research the user who you're dealing with.

Well banning does do something since they have to make an account and make that somewhat reputable to be able to scam again. Which doesn't take a few days or a week

Nothing will happen unless he admits on-site to scamming you.

HF does not get involved.

The deal dispute section is here to caution other members of a certain user.

Not for staff to check here and handle the reports.
