Minecraft- Lit af used to play this all the time, still do sometimes.

CSGO- Just played for a bit then quit

PUBG- Comp was so slow couldn't handle so sold

TDP4- It was a shooter not sure if many know about it

League of Legends- Best of all time got perm banned...

Pokemon Go- Got perm banned...

Hearthstone- Pretty fun, strategy, still play sometimes

These are some on the top of my head, name yours

Theocritus - February 19, 2018, 10:27 am i used to play a shit ton of world of tanks, just because i started and kept playing it even though it was kinda shitty in many ways.

then i had my diablo 3 period, nice times.

then pokemon go was a guchi for a while.

now back to world of tanks again... because things...

and i also just play lots of random games on steam

10x - February 19, 2018, 10:28 am

I like hearthstone, slay the spire and fortnite!

John F. Kennedy - February 19, 2018, 10:28 am

I used to play Minecraft a lot, but I've outgrown it.

Hearthstone is so good, but every time I start playing, I can't stick to it. After a few days of playing, I stop playing again.

Currently, I just play COD WW2, sometimes GTA 5, Need For Speed Payback, and on occasion, I'll play Monopoly on my PS4. I'm a casual gamer.

I don't know tbh I feel like playing with a controller is just more convenient rather than playing with a mouse with limited controls... They are both shooter but idk, something is off

Ninja - February 19, 2018, 10:34 am i think its more common to temporarily be bored of a game, but if its a game you fundamentally love, you will keep coming back to it for ages
