Kronus has a nice ring to it.

I'm interested in giving it a try -- especially testing how stable your features are.

Are you possibly doing vouch copies?

Of course it "works" on every windows, however this rat requires .NET Framework to be installed on the machine which isnt preinstalled on every windows version, it can also be removed by the user.

February end in 28th. Op said it will end on the 29 of the february, so i guess it should have ended yesterday. You dont know OP's local time so chill and mind your own business. Dont say 3 days and things like that.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)lof u

I actually feel really dumb now. Why does February have to end after 28 days.. Sorry for the false accusations OP.

vaxton - March 2, 2018, 10:03 am

I've added 3 more days for the offer after i got my thread pinned again, and i forgot to edit the date here.

Offer ends tomorrow.

RAT Kronus is a very good tool for remote administration ? I bought a lifetime license and I do not regret this purchase . I recommend this product and now I am waiting for an e-book ?

TheBlueSuede - March 9, 2018, 6:33 am

I've seen a few posts where you said any good .Net crypter will work. Will the methods provided on your other sales thread <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5747379> work with crypting this? Is there any discounts for buying both?

As for the xmr miner, will the miner auto start after reboot? Can we adjust the number of threads? CPU%? Can I stop/start the miner? Can I update the mining pool and wallet address?

bernard1968 - March 9, 2018, 7:28 am kronus has an obfuscated output which makes it harder to crypt since it's already protected as well.

and for the miner, you need the pool server and port.
it's a cpu miner and you can add startup/more crypting options using any .net crypter.

Can this recover password from email clients like Microsoft, thunderbird etc?

And since you said "kronus has an obfuscated output which makes it harder to crypt since it's already protected as well" does it mean it's fud in scan/run time ?

you can use a .net crypter to crypt it and it recover all browser's password.
