Thread: You just won the lottery. What are you gonna buy?

Aerospace - February 20, 2018, 7:58 pm

I think about this all the time. It would be a bitter sweet for me because I'd be rich as fuck but I'm currently active duty military so I'd have to wait out the rest of my enlistment to be able to be free of everything. I think I'd be buying my mansion in the hills of LA and ordering my brand new BMW M3 that I'd mod the fuck out of. I'd help with charities and just be very generous with my money as well. I'd love just pulling some Drake shit and paying for peoples tuition and buying a whole stores groceries.

What would you do with lottery money?

PS - The lottery winnings is 100+ million!

Toasties - February 20, 2018, 8:00 pm

Get some personal things done.

Pay bills.

Invest for couple months.

Quit my job, live on interest.

Move town.

First buy myself a car then gift my parents a good better home , and invest , if the lottery money js shitty high i fuck all the bad people in my area

Zero off all debts.

Buy land.... lots of land.....

Pick a piece and/or plot of land to build my home/estate and it would be 100% customized.

A boat for my dad, assuming hes still around.... Hes always wanted one.

And somewhere to establish the rest of my family (Thus all the land)

Rest gets invested to incur more money.....

Thank you man, this is very long story to be honest. We live in times where everything depends on money. Cars and Houses doesn't mean anything to me, perhaps cars are just hobby, once you die, what happens ? what happens with your houses and cars when you've no family and so on ? The most important thing is to be with your family and appreciate the things you've, so personally i don't care whether i'm going to win the lottery or no. I prefer to be with the people i love, because i do realise that one day everything will disappear.

NO INVESTMENTS!

Not yet anyway, lottery winners and people who aren't in the 'business' and come into a lot of money get targeted by 'investors' looking for their capital. It's a fools' game. I'd maybe invest in crypto but that'd be it for the first year or two anyway.

Banks are safe too, keep most of it in there and get an annual return of $20,000 or so.

1st thing i will do is, i will buy my own house (i live in my parents' house).
If there is some more money left after that, 2nd thing i would like to do is i wanna sponsor a foreign tour to my parents, since they have done a lot for me right from the day i was born, and this will be the smallest token of appreciation towards both of those great personalities...
Btw, sorry for my bad english, i am trying to learn it....

Sheesh, what a question. First, I'm definitely paying off college and investing. This will clearly make the rest of my life easier in the long run. Then I'll buy a challenger hellcat and a new house, in full. Then I'll start to have fun with some of the rest. Definitely gonna need a vacation to stay away from the media and all.

Charities and a big fat check for my parents would come along very quickly. Love to give back.

1m - Buy a house, car, everything I need for the future and save/invest the rest!

5m - I can luxury out a little bit. Higher end property/vehicle but not wasting money.
10m - Set up my own business and buy things I need.

1m - Buy a house, car, everything I need for the future and save/invest the rest!
5m - I can luxury out a little bit. Higher end property/vehicle but not wasting money.
10m - Set up my own business and buy things I need.
25m - Setup company and luxury out a little bit.
50m - Setup company, luxury out and probably move country.

Anything above this I'd just retire and move country.
I agree with what you said lol, I would start with a house and car and then move onto business.

id buy the biggest burger in the world. because i can

Cyber - February 28, 2018, 3:38 pm

I'm buying a house marrying my girlfriend buying us both nice cars. Paying insurance in advance giving money to my parents and her parents investing 10 million into stocks and other things to make profit off of and then buying whatever I wanted

The Pact - February 28, 2018, 4:09 pm

Where I live the lottery is often only 1 million which buys one maybe two houses where I live. So I'd buy one maybe two houses. ? I already do have a house though. I'd pay off my mortgage which is only 10% left to go and buy a nicer house and rent out mine.

Often if more than one person wins the lottery is more like 500,000 or even a recent one was 250,000 each cause 4 people got the top prize.

I used to wonder why people would win lotteries and then go bankrupt. I guess because they think it means unlimited money when it doesn't and they go crazy borrowing all over the place.

We do have some big ones here that are 12 million or whatever. I think I'd still get into property and be a landlord because it's a pretty good investment where I live.

Not everyone lives in the USA, dude. I think our largest ones here are about 38 million. That's from money rolling over when no one wins for a long time.

DutchGreen - February 28, 2018, 5:53 pm

I would purchase FlowCrypter so I can take it off the market and do everyone here a favor ?

On a serious note, nothing much. Pretty much carry on living, just raising the stakes ?

If I win the lottery I'm buying everyone here a new BMW

SIM-2875347 - February 28, 2018, 8:29 pm

I'd probably get a new car, maybe a Tesla and a new GPU for my computer and that's be about it.
Possibly some clothes too but nothing particularly fancy.

I would just invest it all in bitcoin and cash it out in 2 years and that would be the jackpot of my entire life lmao

Smok£y - March 1, 2018, 2:55 am

I always wanted to buy my parents a new house, which I'm still striving for. Then I would look out for the rest of the family and go to vacations to places where I've never been, with the family ofcourse.

iNaruto - March 3, 2018, 2:44 pm

i will buy my family a home first then invest rest money in right way.

"rest money" is probably a lot.. why invest when you have money for the rest of your life?

stop gravedigging and disappear into the anime seciton you weeb

?BowmanBot? - March 3, 2018, 2:51 pm

I would probably put 5% of it into my bank account and then invested the rest in a high interest based savings account and withdrawal the interested gained every year.

Spending the money right away is quite a stupid idea and it is how most lottery winners end up bankrupt.

Exactly that is why I too would probably take more than half of the winnings and put it into savings or stocks or something.

I would go with something with a little more guarantee than the stock market. I am confident with my trading skills but I would much rather earn 3-5% a year than have the risk of losing it all.

Domme Merrie - March 3, 2018, 5:59 pm

Well, if you recieve 100 million USD after-taxes you can buy kind of a lot.

A new car, maybe two or hell even 10.

A big house, etc. etc.

(note: invest)

Overspending is definitely not the correct action to take. You will run out of money a lot faster than you think you will.

Question would be, what would you do with 10 cars?
