

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: VicePub - General Talk, Humor, Mischief

LongJ - February 27, 2018, 9:41 pm

VicePub - General Talk, Humor, Mischief

<http://vicepub.com>

VicePub is a community for people looking to discuss their vices, have a laugh, and talk with like-minded individuals. We offer many categories to discuss your interests. Being only a month old we plan on adding more categories as our forum grows. Join our community and talk about life, drugs, entertainment, and much more. We want you to have a laugh, a good time, & enjoy your experience with us. We treat our forum like a pub, welcoming anyone who would like to join. We offer a platform to discuss controversial topics where judgement is discouraged. All we ask is for you to use common sense in these sections and respect the members whom participate.

Our forum has a few features. We offer complete profile customization, a clubs feature, and the option to chat on site or join our discord.

Any feedback is welcome, whether it's good or bad.

Nachfolger - March 1, 2018, 10:51 am

Why in the world would you design a site where the damn navbar takes up like 20% of the screen. I literally inspected element and deleted it cause it was just THAT AWFUL.

Fix that. It's literally awful.

H??????a X™ - March 2, 2018, 4:43 pm

(Mar 1, 2018 11:51 AM)Nachfolger Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why in the world would you design a site where the damn navbar takes up like 20% of the screen. I literally inspected element and deleted it cause it was just THAT AWFUL.

Fix that. It's literally awful.

I thought the same.

<http://prntscr.com/im44pp>

I deleted some of it and I personally think this looks better. Overall I will just say, general forums are a money pit in getting traffic to these days, but if you're just doing it for something to do and to learn a lesson, then go for it. If you're actually gonna try to get money off it, stop.

LongJ - March 4, 2018, 7:59 am

I don't see what you two are complaining about. My header is smaller than most forums, hackforums being included. If you're referring to the line of text "Welcome Guest". that section is a guest message that disappears once you've left index, or logged in.

Header is 110px, while hackforums is 210px, yet no one is complaining?

Nachfolger - March 4, 2018, 12:21 pm

(Mar 4, 2018 08:59 AM)LongJ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't see what you two are complaining about. My header is smaller than most forums, hackforums being included. If you're referring to the line of text "Welcome Guest". that section is a guest message that disappears once you've left index, or logged in.

Header is 110px, while hackforums is 210px, yet no one is complaining?

Well that was when the header was fixed to the top of the screen. Obviously no one cares when it isn't scrolling with you.

NuckingFutz™ - March 6, 2018, 1:08 am

The most successful forums I've seen have been genre specific and yours doesn't seem to be. Maybe pivot into some specific genre without disturbing the part of the forum that is working? Just my 2 cents.

CALIFORNIAN - March 8, 2018, 12:00 am

Looks interesting. Keep it up with the niche. I wish you the best. Looks like a good design too.