wait is this like a sunlight substitute for plants? like would it allow you to grow your fruit like tomatoes and oranges inside instead of outside?

Yessir, ever want to grow some carolina reapers, tomatoes, basil or oregano for pizzas? That all can be done with a grow light like this.

You could grow literal trees but it would take way too long starting them from saplings, technically you could put the HPS bulb in, buy a few adult trees and constantly supply yourself with fruit by inducing bloom with the timer.

Thanks for the support. I figured there's a lot of smokers here that would appreciate something like this being sold more, but even then a lot of people still garden outdoors and having a grow light like this can double your yields due to allowing you to start your plants months and months in advance to spring.

I appreciate it, the fact I'm willing to help walk someone through A-B of growing too with this sale is rather surprising to me
