Thread: Limited entries to access a site

Is there a site that let you upload a file but can be accessed by a limited amount of people?

I m about to share a e-whore pack but there are too many people to PM, and thought about this to make my work easier.

P.S Never mind I got that

You could try a password-protected file upload site. That way only people with the password have it.

Or zip it into a rar archive and add a password to it.

A RAR Archive with a password would probably work better. You could also just set up a website and give people credentials and have the download locked behind a login.

You could say in the thread you will only be giving out X amounts or like sysadmin said just make a rar archive and make it password protected.

I am pretty sure mediafire has a feature for this.

One for sure is password protection.

MEGA allows you to have a private key to share.

Use Mega.nz they allow to have a decryption key so you can only send the key.
