Thread: Konami's piss poor apology for Metal Gear Solid Survive! `

Vitani's Mate - March 2, 2018, 8:47 am

Quote:"Metal Gear Survive has perhaps had one of the more famous bad launches of 2018 so far. Even pre-launch, the game was already struggling with criticism from die-hard Metal Gear fans, and a buggy release with balance issues, server problems, and microtransaction controversies didn't help.

As an apology, Konami has announced 100 SV coins and a Premium Boost will be given upon login to all players who created an avatar before February 27th 14:59 (JST). Also, scheduled maintenance concluded on the 27th, the patch notes for which you can read below:"

My thoughts: (I commented on this story)

So they want us to pay another $10 to play their $80 (in Australia) game again for another playthrough. Imfao ahaha what a fucking joke, to add insult to injury, they come up with a piss poor 'apology' scheme that is ONLY worth $3? M8 fuck your apology Konami, can't even buy a fucking happy meal from McDonalds with that money. Suck my non working cock.
