Our Mission

Our mission is to improve the skill sets and creativity of members throughout the Hack Forums. We encourage all users to allow their creativity to flow and grow through various activities. We are dedicated to educating, teaching, and training new and old members in areas they would like to improve in. Our members will use their knowledge to create high-quality tutorials and guides as well as inspire users to become more creative. These tutorials will range from basic knowledge to advanced concepts in order to be beneficial to the maximum number of users. Our members are required to have and maintain a professional and helpful attitude when interacting with any user on Hack Forums. We strive to better those around us and whilst doing so we are improving ourselves as well.

How Will We Contribute?

Writing Division

News Reports, Homework Help, and Free Writing Activities

The writing division will focus on three distinct areas. We will be offering users with help with any homework that has to do with writing. All members are encouraged to allow their creativity to flow freely. All works will be showcased at the end of each month. We will also be releasing articles based on current events that happen online and offline.

All Other Divisions

Tutorials and Guides

Once a week, each division will release one tutorial or guide that will help users in their designated subforums.

Current Divisions

The Computer division will cover general topics of computing, including but not limited to the following areas:

Computer 101

Basic usage, troubleshooting, OS-specific functionality, anything that a 3-year old can possibly do to a modern computer.

Software Development

This includes window-based, web, and mobile applications development, as well as language agnostic information such as concepts, models, and design patterns and architecture.

Hardware & Devices

Anything tangible that's related to computing is covered here. This also covers mobile phones, routers, CCTVs, and anything with a "smart" prefix on it.

Networking & Cloud-Computing

This covers how computers interact with each other over what we call a network, as well as how said computers function on said network, including the utilization of a network to perform large-scale operations.

Artificial Intelligence

Deals with anything related to AI. Most popular subject these days are neural networks.

Hacks & Exploits

Last but certainly not the least, the art of exploitation. All types of hacks, both ethical and black hat, digitized or not, go here. Observe Hack Forums rules on disallowed blackhat activities when covering this topic.

The Finance division covers a variety business/financial topics relating to:

Business

Activities involved in developing and exchanging products.

Marketing

Practices of promoting and selling products and services in various industries.

Promotion

Methods on how to increase sales on services and products in various industries.

Economics

Management and flow of money of on macro and micro scales.

Entrepreneurship

A person who starts a new business or purchases an existing business.

Stocks

Shares in ownership of a company, mainly bought for financial gain.

Investing

Investments of money or a form of sacrifice for future benefit and gain.

Cryptocurrency

All digital currencies in which verify the transfer of funds, operating independently of a central bank.

The Graphics division covers a series of general topics, including but not limited to the following areas:

Freehand

Includes any free hand use of a tool to create your graphic.

Computer Graphics (Raster & Vector)

One of the most popular amongst Hack Forums members, this includes any and all computer generated graphics.

Illustration

This includes any visual representation including drawing, painting, photography and nearly any other form of art that stresses the subject over the form.

Photography

Covers any real-world still depicting a scene as interpreted by the photographer as well as digital manipulation to enhance its effect.

Web Graphics

Pertains to any web-related graphics, specifically UI/UX design and modern website design trends.

Advertising & Branding

This includes all marketing and business graphics used to build an image for the business and drive traffic.

The Writers division will be focusing on the following areas.

Writing

All members will help each other and other users of Hack Forums improve their writing skills.

Editing

All members will peer edit each other's work and offer a service to edit work submitted by users of Hack Forums.

Homework Help

We will have a homework help and writing service. Depending on the work, this will be a paid service.

International Politics

Members will research and report on international politics that will affect international relations.

International Events

Member will research and report on international events that are noteworthy.

Notable Domestic News

Members will research and report on domestic events that affect the lives of the locals.

Short Stories

Members will have a platform to write, share and, constructively critique each other stories.

Poetry

Members will have a platform to write, share and critique each other's poetry skills.

Creativity Showcase

Once a month, a thread will be released that includes all short stories, poetry, and various other free writing activities.

Becoming a Member

We will have recruitment threads open for specific divisions, others will be invite only recruitments. We will be looking for high-quality devoted members of the community. We will only choose the best members that show dedication and eagerness to complete the projects, activities, and work that are presented.

I am glad you like it.

#Doge did an amazing job with the userbar. He really captured what our group is about.

Intimidating, powerful, yet caring and with open arms

A force to be reckoned with but will always be there to help you out.

ven0m - March 4, 2018, 10:55 am

Looks like an awesome group. I would really love to see the outcome of the Writing division. Good luck.

ThomasGB - March 4, 2018, 11:05 am

Good luck with the groupe , sounds interesting

There are 3 divisions that will be releasing tutorials, there isn't one specifically to do so.

Thank you for your kind words though!

Thank you very much, guys! We will make it live up to your expectations. ?

My division leaders will be starting their recruitments in the coming days.

Woes - March 4, 2018, 12:17 pm

Looking really nice, hopefully could slide into one of those finance divisions.

Good job with the designs though, and things seem really thought out!

We will be adding more divisions in the future, eventually spreading out to the entirety of the forums.

To start, it will just be the four of these.

Omniscient - March 4, 2018, 6:57 pm

Looking forward to applying for this group. Really fascinated by the Finance Division and hope to bring something useful to the table. I'm mostly a lurker on this forum, but it would be awesome to join this group. Best of luck to you BowmanBot and hope your group transcends your expectations ?

I'm glad this group is already sparking some members that are seeking to contribute and help around the forums. Anyone who is willing to put in the work to help people out within any topic has a high chance of being accepted into Samaritans.

I hope to see you apply in the upcoming days.

Jaw dropping userbar. I hope that the initiative doesn't fade away within a couple of months. Active tutorial releases are hard to maintain. Best of luck. :)

I am really happy with the work that #Doge did. Well worth the money spent.

Our team is extremely dedicated and we have no intentions of quitting anytime soon.

Thank you very much!

On the userbar: lkr. #Doge really killed it.

On the initiative: That is the truth right there. Tutorial releases are hard to maintain for the sole reason that only a handful of tutorials about a hot topic are given attention in the forums. The rest just gets buried in the graveyard of tutorials in their respective forums. One good example of that is my guide for using Maltego for profiling targets, as well as my very recent guide about HTTP requests. Lol. Hours put into such threads, and they're already on their way to abyss. Regrets? None at all. Why? Because I know at some point in time, given HF is still alive, a very eager and resourceful person may eventually stumble upon it and will find it helpful and informative.

As a division leader, I will try to make my members realize that tutorials are not made to be recognized. They are made to inform and educate past, present, and future users of Hack Forums. My guide for RATs as well as setup for DarkComet back then was still active and informative for new users until I closed it around 2015, years after DC went dark.

I want them to value their membership to our group not because of its privileges and recognition, but because of the symbol it carries when helping out and guiding those who know less. It's hard work, but hey, I still have hope for the future of this forums, that's why I stayed when I came back late last year.

Thank you for the kind words. We technically need all the luck we can get our hands on. ?
