Parasite HTTP Remote Administration Tool

What is Parasite HTTP?

Parasite HTTP is a professionally coded modular remote administration tool for windows written in C that has no dependencies except the OS itself.

With the stub size of ~49kb and plugin support it presents perfect solution for controlling large amount of computers from a remote location.

You can purchase it here : <http://parasithenxhddj.onion/>

Use Tor Browser to access the website directly or click here to use tor2web proxy server. For maximum privacy its best to use Tor Browser with NoScript plugin enabled. By using tor2web proxy you are directly compromising your own privacy.

Note

For all informations about the project or support you can submit a ticket on site. I'd rather avoid using HF PM system so sometimes I won't be responding to certain PMs.

As for crypters, do not ask me what to use. I honestly don't care what you use, what is the best, what doesn't work so don't bother me with those kind of questions. Same goes for hosting, I will not recommend nor suggest anything.

You can NOT pay with PayPal, PaySafe Card etc... Only BTC is accepted.

I am not going to set up the panel for you, in fact I am not going to touch your server. If you are unable to set it up yourself then don't buy it. Alternatively, you can pay someone to set it up for you but that is not my concern because its rather trivial to set it up.

If you share your account, or lose access to it and contact me about it, I will suspend your account. Your account is your concern, use complex password and don't share it with other people.

R3VC0N - March 30, 2018, 5:36 am

It says "remote administration tool" so it's a RAT...

but if the price is 500$ what did u mean by rebuild price 50$? like a custom version for the buyer or something?

btw why didn't you provide a stub scan?

Nobody has the braincells to write their own plugins on this forum anyway.

Consider offering a custom plugin service instead

The only limit is server specs. Processing power and connection quality are two things that matter the most. Low end server with the right knock interval can hold thousands of bots.

If your domain/s become suspended or something and you want to continue using this software then you dont need to pay 500$ again and instead you pay 50$ for a new bin with new domain/s.

I have not posted a stub scan because you should always use a crypter. I do not plan to keep this FUD nor anything similar.

I have to admit, when designing the panel I was heavily influenced by BetaBot and Zyklon HTTP since they seems to have most functional panels and thats about it where all similarities end.

UPDATE:

New plugin added to the list: Hidden VNC.
Next plugin I am working on is formgrabber.

Since people tend to abuse it, I will no longer provide source code for my own plugins. Only PHP code will be available. What other developers will provide and do is not my concern and I will not vouch or give support for plugins that are not made by me.

This is Zyklon Botnet without a doubt.

You have copied all info from it and the only you did is adding some info at clients from full view, can you explain why all features are same and even the panel? Everyone could realize easy that is zyklon.

You even selling it for much more than original version.

Can you post a virus scan link to prove i am wrong?

Its not Zyklon Botnet. Both Zyklon and BetaBot files are encoded and not available as open source plus not to mention that Zyklon Botnet is .NET and Parasite HTTP is coded in C.

What will a virus scan prove?

The panel could be easily decrypted and also framework .net can be a Native PE, virus scan can show up which apis are used to your stub.Please send me a sample of this.

If you read the main post you will notice this "Dynamic API calls (No IAT)". So even if I send you the virus scan there will ne no api's shown in the import table. All api calls are encrypted and decrypted at runtime.

As for the panel decrypting, why would anyone spent enormous amount of time decoding loncube when its 100 times easier to make one from scratch. Panel development is the easiest part of it all. I just looked at Zyklon and Betabot panels for reference since they do look nice indeed.

Also would .NET Native image be less than 50kb in size. Get your facts straight.

Decrypting it is spend of time indeed since the only you will get is the php code and actually you have 0 changes on that, could you pm me the bin? (Didn't asked for something strange, just a sample).

What do you mean zero changes, its mixed HTML and PHP not to mention JS. So everything is encoded, not just PHP. I dare you to try and modify Zyklon or BetaBot panel and see where will that get you.

I ain't giving you a sample, no offense.

Be extremely careful when requesting a setup. You may end up losing all your work and stuff from server. USE EXTRA CAUTION WITH THESE STUFF.

If you want to try it your self there are few written tutorials for setting everything up correctly.

Install instructions [Centos 7]:

1. Install Apache, MySQL and PHP on your server:

<https://www.digitalocean.com/community/tutorials/how-to-install-linux-apache-mysql-php-lamp-stack-on-centos-7>

2. Install ioncube loader:

3. Install Panel

Its encrypted with RC4 with optional usage of HTTPS with self signed certificate or paid one (whatever you wish).

Firewall is bypassed by running main bot instance within the address space of trusted process, i.e. svchost.exe

First of all the owner is very friendly and answered all my questions!

He reply very fast and knows what hes doing.

The panel it self is very user friendly and the plugins provided are working as well.

If you looking for a good botnet with a good price, this is should be your choice!

I have been reading this threads comments. People are saying that this is/resembles zyklon. Zyklon is .NET and even AOT compiling the client would not result in a 50kb binary, more like 2-3 Mb. Please do not trash someones thread, saying this is zyklon when you have done zero research. I would definitely recommend this for 250$ GLWS OP!

It has the exact same features as the normal build. "Rebuild" is simply if you need to change your domain/s because they got suspended or something so that you don't need to pay 500$ again and instead you just pay 50$ to get the bin with new domain/s.

That stuff doesn't really work anymore in 2018, i can find maybe 10 papers from security researches documenting this shit since as the beginning of time and most av vendors have mitigation techniques also speaking of the beginning of time, i saw this exact webpanel at least on 3 different "bots", why the fk are u even protecting it with ioncube :DDD

$500 is too much for this bot, i can do maybe $20... as in you pay me $20 to download it
Where did he say dynamically resolved apis are used as bypass? Reason for resolving APIs for runtime is to harden analysis of the binary... Ring3 bypass is a different story.

Proofpoint released a nice writeup on the 25th for this. I'll quote their conclusion

Quote:Threat actors and malware authors continuously innovate in their efforts to evade defenses and improve infection rates. Parasite HTTP provides numerous examples of state-of-the-art techniques used to avoid detection in sandboxes and via automated anti-malware systems. For consumers, organizations, and defenders, this represents the latest escalation in an ongoing malware arms race that extends even to commodity malware like Parasite. While we have currently only observed Parasite HTTP in a small campaign, we expect to see features like those used in Parasite continue to propagate across other malware variants.

First thing, Zyklon is .NET and this one is coded in C, second thing, Zyklon source code was never released in public and panel files are protected with ioncube. Anyone capable using any kind of debugger, even people who only heard about debuggers should see that those two are totally different things. Even comparing panel files structure should give you an idea that they are totally different.

You can NOT pay with PayPal, PaySafe Card etc... Only BTC is accepted.

I am not going to set up the panel for you, in fact I am not going to touch your server. If you are unable to set it up yourself then don't buy it. Alternatively, you can pay someone to set it up for you but that is not my concern because its rather trivial to set it up.

If you share your account, or lose access to it and contact me about it, I will suspend your account. Your account is your concern, use complex password and don't share it with other people.

I honestly don't know how did you come up with this shit? I mean, do you intentionally make things up or you really believe in that shit that you wrote. How exactly have you came to the conclusion that I used LiteHTTP code? By looking at the screenshots? What is structural code? What does that even mean? Have you seen the code of Parasite HTTP? Have you even seen the files/directories structure? Have you seen the functions used to connect to the SQL database? Have you seen how the HTML is being displayed by looking at webpage source? Have you seen the SQL database and its structure? Have you compared all those stuff to LiteHTTP? I think not, because the first thing that comes to my mind is that you don't have a clue about anything let alone about this stuff. You don't even know how to set up cracked Smoke loader correctly which your previous thread shows, so I would kindly ask you to refrain from posting this shit again in my thread.

For the love of God, I have used this template

<http://www.prepbootstrap.com/bootstrap-theme/dark-admin>.

Its called dark admin and its based on bootstrap and it is similar to the other admin themes that are based on the bootstrap. If you can't comprehend what is bootstrap and HTML template then refrain from posting shit about being the same like all other botnets. When I first joined this forum I knew that there are stupid people here, but the amount of shit in this thread is unbelievable.

Seems to be inaccurate. This forum isn't my primary advertising site so you can expect that I won't be here all the time. About the price, I can and will charge whatever I want.

Since people love to leak software I have decided to add fee [50$] for the updates. The site is now online and update has been released. It took me a bit longer than I have initially planned because I have decided to add changes to licensing etc. Better now than later.

I have re-uploaded the new plugin source code that is compatible with all versions. You can download it from Plugins page and develop your own plugins again.

the hvnc module had some problems with the 64bit versions.

Are you trying to repair that little bug?

If you allow me suggestions, you could add modules like the stealer, keylogger, formgrabbers, webinjects.

It would be the most complete and unique botnet in this forum.

Webinjects will not be added. It is the HVNC backconnect server that had the issues on x64 win 10 and it is working fine on other versions of windows. The HVNC module on the bot side is working fine on both x86 and x64.

what is the problem
It's not possible for it to just "stop working".

Do you know what is bootstrap?

chameleon101 - January 18, 2019, 5:58 pm

a nice one, more plugin will be needed to make this a more useful tool

Mind telling me exactly how did you concluded that? Have you reversed the bin? How did you compared Parasite HTTP and Dark Sky? By looking at the screenshots? IMHO, why would you post such bullshit, because if you did reversed it and done that properly by comparing both stub and the panel I am sure that you wouldn't write that bullshit here. I dont want to offend you but I doubt that you are even capable of using debugger and disassemble the bin to compare it with Dark Sky or any other bot out there. And yes, this is clearly sales trashing because you post no evidence of anything and I would kindly ask you to refrain from posting such bullshit in this thread again.

I do agree, but posting unverified shit in the sales thread, the shit that isn't ever remotely true is kind of a dick move. Would you not agree?

Its not an actual HVNC, stop talking out of your ass. Same as the one from tinynuke source.

Would a SOCKS5 plugin be possible? Not Reverse Proxy. IP:PORT, Port randomization, GeoIP info.

It would be possible but I will not do it. The thing is that for proxy to work the client would need to have port open which may not be possible on all clients.

@adster: I can not reply back because you have your PM disabled.

Bought this few weeks ago and i have 0 regrets.

The panel it self is very user friendly and the plugins provided are working as well.
If you looking for a good botnet with a good price, this is should be your choice!

mrbones2015 - March 2, 2019, 8:32 am adding formgrabbers and the possibility that the hvnc could clone the user's session, would make the perfect botnet
