Referring to this thread

Model #1 is Molly Bennett

Model #2 is Maddy Belle

Model #4 is Taylor White

Look them up and you'll see that they are pretty popular snapchat whores. Their packs are easily obtainable and it kind of bothers me that you're putting a 50$ price tag for something out there that you can download for free instead. This is like the (fourth?) Time im seeing public packs being sold here. All they've done is collected recent pics and vids and added that into the mix. What an absolute joke.

You real, bro? Aight, i'll explain you, because it seems you are 4 grader or something like that. How do you think packs are being made, bud? Do you think we are taking pics of our gfs or what? Packs are made from real girls (from online whores, real ones), we are paying for their snapchats and other social media to obtain possibility gather information (pictures and videos) from their activity, do you think obtaining all these pictures and videos is easy? Do you think paying monthly for their social media is nothing? We are offering WEEKLY updates, that means we obtain information DAILY, that means we put effort that we could offer best quality, brand new pictures and videos from their life. How they can be saturated or something like that if they are week old? And, bro, tell me how you get their premium snapchats for free, could you tell me that secret?

Like Icarus said, also we are offering mentoring to ALL of our customers. Everyone who bought so far tripled or did even make more.

Make as how many threads as you want, we are serious about our products and we believe in them. Not to forget that we work our asses off to keep everything updated.

I feel your thread is very misleading. You should put a disclaimer in your thread saying that these are popular snap models and you just provide updates from their premium snaps or whatever else. That would be more appropriate, right? It would be great if you could add a disclaimer like Shutdown did in this thread. Now that's a good and an honest businessman! Packs of most of the models you list in your thread can be found online. I don't think the prices that you set them at are fair either to be frank. $50 for updates for an individual mediocre pack that half of it is public? Heck, save your $50, look around on reddit, buy access to a reputable crowdfund for a mere $20 and enjoy organized, compiled packs of hundreds of models lifetime. I am in no way intending to promote someone else's service but for the price that you're setting this at it's just stupid imo. It doesn't matter if you spent your $50 and made your money back, twice, triple of it or 10x of it but you should just know that you could have gotten it for free. There's packs that are waay better out there and paying such a price for this pack in particular is not worth it at all. I would gladly link the original pack here for pack #1 aka molly bennett (to show proof) that had 160 pics and 425 vids but I'm advised that it is against the rules to do so. If you're saying that your mentorship makes up for the price lol let's be real.. it's worth fuck all.

I hope you revise your prices as well as take my advice and edit your thread to be more transparent about your business.

I've e-whored before. Now, the thing is I thought you wanted something that was Private / not popular. Knowing the fact you're using a popular model defeats in even selling a pack.
