Thread: [\[Official Group\] Samaritans | Computer Division | Recruitment](#)

Ghost.13 - March 5, 2018, 2:29 pm

Samaritan: A charitable or helpful person

The Computer Division covers a wide array of fields in computing, including but not limited to technical aspects such as hardware and software. The purpose of this thread is to recruit the initial members that would help me organize the division in its early stages. That being said, the following positions and corresponding slots are open for applications: Hardware Guru (1) - Applicants for this position are preferred to have intermediate hardware knowledge (ex. what usually comprises a modern computer) as well as troubleshooting experience. Note that hardware isn't just about the components that makes up a computer, but anything electronic in general such as smart devices are also considered as hardware.

Software Specialist (0) - Applicants for this position are preferred to have intermediate understanding on how software is made and how it actually works. Knowledge in any programming/scripting language is a plus, but knowledge on concepts, designs, techniques, and architecture is also highly valued and considered.

Network Administrators (2) - Applicants for this position are preferred to have intermediate background on networking, preferably in the modern context with topics such as networking and decentralized networks.

Hatters (0) - Applicants for this position are preferred to have intermediate skill set on hacking and the art of exploitation in general. White and grey hats are preferred, but black hats are also very much welcome under the condition that they should strictly observe HF rules on disallowed BH activities. Any threads or posts that pertains to said topics must have my approval as the division leader.

General Requirements Interested applicants MUST: Be devoted to helping the community in general - I cannot stress enough how important this particular requirement is. All members of the user group are expected to live up to the group's name. Being a Samaritan doesn't require one to be holy, at least not in this case. You are, however, required to be as helpful as you can be to anyone, regardless of the circumstance.

Have at least 25 quality posts - Preferably helpful and informative threads/posts related to the position you're applying for. This is also to certify your dedication to the community, your basic eligibility as a helpful user to the Samaritan user group, as well as to enable your PMs.

Have no open deal disputes - Credibility and trust goes hand in hand and adds a sense of security for the community when you try to help out other users.

This is a confirmation that this is our official recruitment for the Computer division.

A Message to All Applicants:

Take your time and craft your application carefully. We will only take in the most dedicated and highest of quality members.

Thank you for applying, I wish you all the best of luck!

Keep the applications coming in. I kept the application format short and concise so I can review on the go.

To current applicants that have already applied, I have already reviewed your applications. I would like to personally thank you for being confident enough and giving it a shot. You will be updated by the end of the week as this might turn into a rolling recruitment instead.

To everybody else, feel free to reply or send me a message if you have further clarifications or inquiries.

I am sure you would make a great addition to Samaritans.

However, I would recommend that you submit a proper application.

Ghost.13 - March 8, 2018, 4:38 pm

Looking good on the applications so far. Done with my review on the recent ones.

Hey buddy, as Bowman said, feel free to craft a decent application post. There ain't much requirement for it, content-wise. Just state the position you want to take up in the division if ever and back it up with proof. If you can have that by this weekend, you'll get feedback by this weekend too. Otherwise, no rush. Recruitment will be open to everyone for a month or as long as there are still positions to be filled.

Looking forward for your application.

Good day.

Honestly, I want to apply, but I don't think I have any "quality post" :/

(Mar 10, 2018 10:42 AM)DoctorSheep Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honestly, I want to apply, but I don't think I have any "quality post" :/

The reason why we ask for past quality posts is to prove that you would be a good contribution to the group.

What position would you be interested in?

Ghost.13 - March 12, 2018, 8:53 am

Good day.

I have already sent the first set of invitations, considerations, as well as rejections through private messages. To everyone who has applied in this thread, you should've received them by now. If not, kindly send me a PM linking me to your application post.

To those who will be accepting the invite, I look forward to work with you within the group.

To those who will be declining it, though it is with sadness that I will accept your refusal, I admire each and everyone of you for considering to join the group and respectfully saying no.

To those who would still be applying or are still hesitant to join, I will be updating the OP shortly after the first few invites have been resolved. Feel free to send me a private message if you are not sure if you meet the requirements stated.

Cheers.

I wasn't sure weather to apply for the finance or computing section so im going to post a bit about me and if you like me then its all good.

I have decided not to follow your application format and have gone with something i believe will show me off a bit better.

About me:

I am an 18 year old student currently studying Software Development and in September i will be going to university to study a Computing degree. Im quite a money hungry person and the whole this forum was for looking for a way to make money i started with e-Whoring bearing in mind i was only 14 at this point. From there I went to crypto mining, I used to rent out mining rigs online using sites like my nicehash and mine crypto in hope of turning a profit. I then became an affiliate for an ad network and got into CPA. From here I dived into the world of crypto investing which ive been on a journey with the past six months or so and finally recently I started my own web hosting business.

I have been an active member of the community here at HF and i don't know any specific thread of mine which stand out for me helping people but throughout my journey of making money once i got a grasp of an area i used to help other people by being constantly active in there sub forums. Ill try and gather a list of my threads and posts which i think might show how ive helped.

Thanks for reading my application anyway :)

Ghost.13 - March 12, 2018, 6:40 pm

First, there's a reason I did not put any "Reason for joining" section in the application format. I have always been a believer of the statement "action speaks louder than words". However, words are powerful enough to convey actions, and when played right, one can play pretend. That's what I'm avoiding. I'm an output-oriented person too, so I'd rather make my work do the talking on my behalf. :) In any case, I respect your decision to go off the application format. Those who choose to go against the flow deserves recognition as well.

(Mar 12, 2018 12:11 PM)Dispaced Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Im quite a money hungry person and the whole this forum was for looking for a way to make money

That statement alone proves that you should be in the Finance Division buddy. The rest of your biography totally supports that statement and it checks out 100%.

Go here instead. We'll be under the same group, so maybe we can ask for your crypto expertise at some point if we want to know more about the technical things underneath the hood.

Good luck.

Applications for Hatters are now closed. Should you still be interested for the said position, the only way to get in as a Hatter at the moment is a direct invite from me as the current division leader.

We will be opening recruitment again for the Hatters section very soon once I organize the process with the initial members. Stay tuned.

Hello.

My name is Putra, I am 29 years old from Indonesia.

When I open the group page, I find there is a computer division and I like (Wow, there is a computer division). I am very interested to join and share the knowledge I have learned so far.

Here are some of my experiences in computer. I have been working for 5 years at ISP (Internet Service Provider) as Network Administrator and worked in Hotel IT for almost 2 years. My specialist is maintaining the network and all the computers (Hardware and Software) that exist in the company. More details I am more dominant using MikroTik Router, Meraki (Cisco) and Linux basics. I can create a VPN Server, Hosting Server, Routers, Hotspot User Manager, Proxy, Cacti Monitoring and more. I hope to be accepted to join this group. Thank you for reading this.

Replied to some of the most recent applications. Kindly check your inboxes.

Again, initial Hatters are already filled up. I will no longer be accepting applications for that position, however I would still be sending out direct invites to individuals of interest.

For the mean time, we still have positions for Network Administrators, Software Specialists, and Hardware Gurus up for grabs. If you're a Hatter by nature but you do know a thing or two about the other positions, feel free to apply.

Good luck.

Recruitment will be closing in one week.

Get your applications in while you still can!
