Thread: [\[NEW Record\] Biggest DDOS attack overtaking the GitHub attack](#)

flavoral - March 6, 2018, 2:31 am

So i guess it only took about 4 days until a new massive DDOS attack becoming the biggest attack recorded with 1.7 Tbps DDOS attack over taking the attack on GitHub which was 1.3 Tbps...

Damn that shits on my Perl Script haha

Mr.Ransom - March 6, 2018, 6:54 am impressive! i bet that record is going to get broken soon since everyone trying to prove who's got the biggest dick

And maybe when they drop the soap in jail, they will know who has the biggest dick there.

i know right ? lmao we will see a competition in the next few months between groups to claim the biggest DDOS attack

Deflate - March 6, 2018, 1:41 pm

I dont bealive this is the record.

Because a kid of ex-lulz was owning botnet 1.5million infected victims.
But there will be more because some people got skillz and need monny.

pvfu8758 - March 6, 2018, 6:19 pm

I thought DDoS discussion was not allowed?

You're not funny.

This isn't promoting DDoS attacks.

sed-i - March 6, 2018, 6:24 pm

lol, thats funny as its still relatively unknown, wont be the last of that sort i guess.

wrong section mate, take this to the marketplace if you want to semperdeath - April 10, 2018, 5:39 pm

such a sad world cant beleve peopl do these things

Motiv - April 13, 2018, 5:46 am

Having the biggest DDoS attack is the equivalent of seeing who has the biggest zit on their ass - Nobody cares, and it probably won't make people like you more if you win.

VERYNiceGuy - April 20, 2018, 7:33 am

I actually like to see stuff like this around..

People behind this attack must be bragging somewhere since they are doing it for that purpose? Anyone know something about that?

Artisan - April 22, 2018, 3:44 pm

If the people behind these were kiddish enough and go online to brag about it then theyd have their asses handed to them in no time.

On another note, what I find funny is that Ive been hearing about DDOS attacks for almost a decade now and yet no one seems to have thought up a way to permanently safeguard from these.

Happy_Elfster - November 14, 2018, 5:58 pm

how is that working and How can 1 person can achieve that?

Dotexe - November 14, 2018, 6:05 pm

damn man i thought that these times where you ddos and brag just died, but i'm wrong, no ?

Nate - November 14, 2018, 9:11 pm

Reminds me of mw2 days for Cain and Able about to boot some buttholes offline cuz they pissed me off

The article broke it down... memcache refractors

Condoms - November 14, 2018, 11:34 pm

I remember the days of Lizard Squad, and people bragging about it all over Twitter.

John J. Rambo - November 15, 2018, 6:52 am

I still don't understand why some people talk about names and credentials when talking about ddos they confuse it with some other thing i guess

MOAA6 - November 15, 2018, 11:08 am

Thats a big DDoS wow!

Rate limiting should prevent DDoS though? (Only see 100 connections at once, rest get ignored)

n31ght0 - November 16, 2018, 2:36 am i perform DDOS attack with php

SIM-2830142 - November 16, 2018, 5:25 am

holyyy moly

1.7tb just imagine the power you need for that

stupid ddossers

I would not suggest saying that. DDoS is a felony in most countries. Not something you want to go around talking about.

The amount of bots that man must have is gonna be nutty. Probably in the 700k+ range

Rayner - November 18, 2018, 4:28 am

1.7tbps is some crazy stuff. I wonder how long it took for him to gather that much server power.

Someone who can control that much of zombie computers is not gonna go to jail anytime soon mate

It was a joke, I never mentioned that it was guaranteed to send whomever is responsible to jail.

However with that being said... It wouldn't be the first time someone or a group was sent to jail/prison for having a botnet and using it. Sometimes it simply does not matter how many slave PC's you hide behind.

Young Sosa - November 25, 2018, 4:36 pm

they might used the same method as the Mirai botnet, maybe they modified the scan method and some stuff, but that's the only option because it's impossible to generate 1.7 Tbps with normal bots.

Zyber Linux - November 28, 2018, 11:01 pm

I'm just stating my opinion, but DDoS attacks are not really exciting anymore haha.

After I learned how to do it back in 2012 I was like aww look at me I'm this badass hacker dude that can take websites down and host boot people.

I had an IRC botnet with 10,000 nodes, it was not that much but it could kill any home connection and take weak websites down.

After about a year it just got really stupid lol. thought to myself like wow I really thought this was fun the first time I did it lol.

It gives you power over the internet but once you get used to it..it's so pointless it's not even funny.

.xml - November 28, 2018, 11:43 pm

geez ive been inactive since 2016 seems like botnets are kicking hard these days lmao
