I am not responsible if you get flagged in the future by AWS they have the right to cancel or revoke any type of code. READ THERE TOS!

Are these legally obtained? Why would they be revoked if so.

Yes they are, also I simply mean is you should not go against their TOS! if so they have the right to revoke the credit and ban your account, because on what you used the code(s) for not why you used the code(s)

So as far as everything performed on the AWS is "legal" and as per their ToS, they wont revoke it right. Nothing related to source of credit whatsoever?

A: Yes ! Up to four $150 coupons can be stacked in one single account which sums to $600. BUT some event names are only stack able upto 2 codes summing $300, so please be aware of this, I would suggest using this codes on a new fresh account.
