

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Telegram groups in Crypto section

Lawsuit - March 12, 2018, 10:10 am

All these Telegram "free trade signal" group advertisements in the crypto speculation sub is cancer. Could they be moved to a different section or outright excised from HF? They're practically the same as a p&d group.

Mr Kewl - March 12, 2018, 10:34 am

Agree, such groups add very little to the discussions.

Is this a feedback or a suggestion? Because two different sections.

SIM-1589588 - March 12, 2018, 10:38 am

(Mar 12, 2018 10:10 AM)Lawsuit Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) All these Telegram "free trade signal" group advertisements in the crypto speculation sub is cancer. Could they be moved to a different section or outright excised from HF? They're practically the same as a p&d group.

Frankly any offsite activity of a dedicated forum such as crypto shouldn't be allowed to be promoted here.

Sigma - March 12, 2018, 11:12 am

I agree with this 100%, the section needs that help.

ven0m - March 12, 2018, 11:37 am

To be honest, they should be stopped like the Discord advertisements.

dark dahdah - March 12, 2018, 11:48 am lol i joined.. funny asfk..

no discussion just posting about updates

wraxu - March 12, 2018, 12:06 pm

Yes please they are cancer and are usually to advertise scam ICOs...

M?xim - March 12, 2018, 12:30 pm

Should prob ban them. Why be fine with people taking discussions off-site instead of discussing in threads.

+ they seem to only promote cancer, so two birds with one stone.

Saltpeter - March 12, 2018, 12:33 pm

Only users mourning the loss of these groups would be those advertising them. I say get rid of 'em.

webdev77 - March 13, 2018, 8:21 am

I think these should be treated the exact same as discord advertising. There is no difference to the effect on the forum. It's still an outside means of contact.

Factor8™ - March 13, 2018, 10:07 am

(Mar 12, 2018 10:10 AM)Lawsuit Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) All these Telegram "free trade signal" group advertisements in the crypto speculation sub is cancer. Could they be moved to a different section or outright excised from HF? They're practically the same as a p&d group.

Implying members don't have commonsense to exercise due diligence before joining such paid Crypto groups right?

These threads don't break site policy ATM. Period.