Thread: What are your thoughts on scammers? lurers? hosts? bot farmers?

Silent Uprising - March 12, 2018, 11:51 am

This is a rather controversial topic as everyone has their own opinions/moral compass that guides their decisions.

What are your thoughts on scammers? (Ex. When a friend lends you gear and you just never give it back)

I hate scammers like that. I lent shit all the time to friends, and I'd be pretty upset if they chose to have GP over a friendship. I think they deserve punishment for betraying the trust of a friend.

What are your thoughts on lurers? (Ex. Drop lures, wildy lures...basically meeting someone getting them to trust you in ~20 minutes and taking their bank)

I believe this is okay. Yes it is breaking the trust, but they are not someone you know/care about. Many players have been lured before, including myself, and we move on or quit. Who doesn't respect a good lure anyways? Having good SE skills used to take other players items...but I don't find it worse than scamming.

What are your thoughts on dicing websites or gambling hosts?

If they are keeping the odds as they claim such as 45% win chance that's okay...but if it is secretly wrigged...that's wrong. I'm sure it happens all the time and I think that is on the same level of scamming.

What are your thoughts on people who run massive bot farms?

Although bots effect prices of certain materials, I think it does the work that not enough people want to do. People who run a good bot farm have my respects because I know it takes a lot of effort to run/manage.

There are many ways to make money in game...Simply because it breaks an in game rule I don't think it's really that bad? If I had to rank what's worse to least worse it would be like this:

Scammers

Dicing Websites claim you have a winning chance, but it's really otherwise...

Lurers

Bot farm runners

Interested to see your opinions on this subject!

Scammers have been pieces of shit to anybody and everybody lmao

If you're stupid enough to get lured you deserve it

What are your thoughts on dicing websites or gambling hosts?

It's an addiction.

What are your thoughts on people who run massive botfarms?

Disgusting.

I have no idea how you are even their "friend" if you scam them and vice versa

What are your thoughts on lurers? (Ex. Drop lures, wildy lures...basically meeting someone getting them to trust you in ~20 minutes and taking their bank)

I'm surprised people even still fall for this anymore especially the drop ones like how retarded do you have to be to drop your valuables. Alot of those lurers who make youtube videos just fake the loots for views and attention.

What are your thoughts on dicing websites or gambling hosts?

Gambling websites are fun to play on here and there the odds obviously are not in your favor obviously they are a business and need to make profit also could be rigged there no regulation over those anyways.

What are your thoughts on people who run massive botfarms?

I don't really see that many bots in game anymore its obviously because jagex has cracked down on botting a great deal over the past couple years. I do agree with you though kudos to people who still do it because it really isn't that worth it anymore due to how regularly you will get banned.

In my opinion id say the people who overall make alot of profit in the game are the account hijackers such as the Recoverers , Crackers and Ph*shers

It doesn't mean they are retarded for falling for it. I lure on the weekends and get about 100-200M/day and I hate when people insult the people who just got lured. I've lured bils yet I always feel bad for the person...They arn't retarded for falling for it. Happens tot he best of us.

Also who the fuck fakes their clips? Link me...LOL? Maybe some are repeat clips but I don't know any lurer who fakes their clips and I am fairly involved in the luring community.

I think account crackers/recoverers make the most money in game if they are able to consistently get accounts.

Donald Trump Jr. - March 12, 2018, 5:52 pm

I think if you can get someone stupid enough to lure, they deserve it, it's one of the funniest things to do.

When I was younger I use to make close to $1k a week from rsgp when I grinded on it with my clan.

If you don't have a good talker then your not going to have a good time.

There were a couple people even 1 that silentc0re interviewed that was faking clips all those people on rs3 claiming to lure phats and max cashes on rs3.

If you don't have a good talker then your not going to have a good time.Those days are over. Luring nowadays on 07 makes like 500M/$500 weekly it's pretty frustrating but still worth it in the end.

Well that's bogus as fuck. I don't get why people would fake their clips...like they would ask their friend to drop GP and they pretend it was a victim? They don't make any money out of that what?...?

Why do you hate them? Did you have a negative experience?

My opinion on all subjects is that all of them is an art, other then hosting.

If you can do all of the other ones successfully frequently props to you, you deserve the spoils.

Bro yes!!! I've always considered luring an art form! Seriously lolol whenever I'm talking to my other luring mates we always call it an art form. Haha that's awesome, we got the same thinking bro.

wait edit - the first one scamming someone who lends you gear. I am against that. That's no art to that. That's flat out scamming a friend. But the other 3 are fine with me.

Dean Winchester? - March 13, 2018, 10:26 am

They're all cunts, if you're not on RS to play the game and have fun, go get a fucking job or something, instead of SEing and scamming people.

Lion - March 13, 2018, 11:23 am

They all make the game more interesting (besides botting). The fact that there's a dark side to the game adds character and makes it life-like.

Must of over-read that - agreed betraying a friends trust isn't right.

But random people it is perfectly fine and they do deserve it for falling for it.

This thought process is so fucking dumb lmao

So according to you, if say I buy something from someone online, and I get scammed, it is my fault for trusting the person on the other end?

People are saying "Luring is so fucking difficult and it takes a lot of hard work" (yeah i know it doesn't), but when you lure a noob for 15 mill of his hard earned cash, it's his fault and he is dumb for blindly believing a stranger online that was offering to help him?

Lurers are trash, scammers are trash and botthers should find a game that doesn't build strictly around the idea of grinding something if they don't like that aspect of the game

Totally different. If I tell you to follow me to the wild with your bank and I'll double it then yes, I'm sorry you're just flat out stupid and deserve to be killed for your bank.

Why does being stupid make you deserve to be scammed?

And 99% of the scams today are not that simple, you have a bridge that collapses if your weight is over like 3kg, the corp lair where if you drop an item anyone can kick you out instantly and the item is lost, the entrana lure where you literally move one square due to weird pathing, causing you to get rhown of the island etc

Just because someone doesn't have as much game knowledge as the rest and as little trust in a random person, as an average OSRS player, does not make them stupid and does not make them deserve to lose anything.

Again, some of these lures require you to drop items, put items on counters. Weird shit that should know could turn sideways very easily.

I think if someone is trying to give you free stuff, double your money or whatever the occasion is they're just going to give it to you.

Just how I feel about it.

-edit

But at the same time I do see your side of how a new player can easily be taken advantage of.

I agree with this. I still actively lure and every person I lure I always do feel bad, but there will always be lurers on the game...if I don't lure player X, someone else will. I've had this happen to me.

But yeah man, a lot of people say the player is a dumbass and makes fun of them...but it's not entirely their fault. The lures are smart it can happen to the best of us.

Have you ever been lured before?

Metallic Silver - March 13, 2018, 10:09 pm

They're all fucked up in their respective ways, though I'd say bot farming is the most 'innocent' for lack of a better word as it is a sole source of income for some in otherwise terrible financial situations.

Hello.v4.0 - March 14, 2018, 12:22 am

Scammers: Pieces of shit, but only idiots would fall for them. I think this one is especially bad because it's most likely an overtrusting kid being scammed.

Lurers: Pieces of shit, but only idiots would fall for them. I don't even know how people manage to be lured, don't follow random ass people, and sure as hell don't bring your bank with you.

Hosts: Eh, gambling has always existed, if people want to waste their money on games of chance let them.

Bots: Necessary evil, prices of everything that is monotonous to gather would skyrocket.

No, but seeing innocent people who try to enjoy the game getting scammed pisses me off.

I've the same thing in real life. I help people with shit like this, but how can I help someone on RS if their money is gone :P

royaltyyy - March 14, 2018, 10:04 am

Scammers? Shit, if you know them IRL then kick their ass, other than that you're just some kid.

Really comes down to a lot with scammers, but I draw the line at "are we friends and how good of friends".

Luring? #NGL and like that kid said in the beginning, without someone who knows how to talk, you ain't gonna make shit.

Hosts? Ehh. You can really run a host if you have a good bankroll and aren't a fucking retard, but it's mostly the kids with no bank at all that fuck with the hosts.

Mass botting? Props if you can.

I Am Kira - March 14, 2018, 9:46 pm

What are your thoughts on scammers? (Ex. When a friend lends you gear and you just never give it back)

If a friend takes your gear and doesn't give it back he's not a friend. So this could kind of land under the category of luring because he's earned enough trust from you to give your item over to him. If it was someone who you thought was a good friend... well that is sad but there are people like that out there and that should be a lesson learnt.

What are your thoughts on lurers? (Ex. Drop lures, wildy lures...basically meeting someone getting them to trust you in ~20 minutes and taking their bank)

This shit is funny but I do hope the victims learn a lesson.

What are your thoughts on dicing websites or gambling hosts?

I feel like most of them are scams but to the one's that are not a scam, sure I guess? They're ok?

What are your thoughts on people who run massive bot farms?

Massive kudo's! It can be stressful and can be very costly! RISKY BUSINESS BRA

Stressful, and very costly. Anyone who manages a farm knows the amount of time it requires you to put into it.

As for it being risky no, almost everything can be automated from scripts.

Really depends, if you crack / recover accounts (then transfer wealth) congrats to you, as I doubt I could ever get someones information just from simple things let alone recoveries etc (if any is set).

If you sell accounts that are "active" and sell them you're scummy, but if they're inactive, then yes.
