Thread: Zero Fee Digital Marketplace - Coming soon!

SIM-3323508 - March 12, 2018, 3:48 pm

What features would you like to see in a digital marketplace?

It will have 0 fees and will act as an alternative to sites like selly.gg

Here is what I have ready thus far

Seller Panel Features: Beautiful easy to use interface

2 Factor Authentication (Google or Authy both supported)

Automated login rate limiting coupled with ReCaptcha/NoCaptcha to prevent brute force attacks

Security logging on all actions taken on on your account (Login, Product and Settings changes)

All product information is hidden from PayPal - each order gets a unique ID which cannot be linked to your product. Refer is blanked before customer is sent to paypal

Secure product URLs (ex: u0rsb instead of incrementing numeric ID)

Advanced and easy to use product creation, editing and management

Support for HTML in product descriptions

Support for custom email messages (on per product basis)

Support for multiple types of products (Accounts/Codes, Files, URLs and Services)

When selling Accounts/Codes you can set a minimum or maximum per order (useful for avoiding excessive fees when selling items for less than $1/ea or preventing buyers for buying all your stock in one go)

Large file size limit for uploaded files

Limit downloads of delivered file(s) (per product basis)

Tracking on all files downloaded and URLs clicked after purchase by buyer

Easy to use transaction view with search and ability to filter only paid transactions.

View detailed transaction information including: buyer email, IP, other orders, delivered product information etc

Customer messaging/support system - read messages sent by customers and reply to them via email

Full restful API with support for all functionality provided on the dashbaord

IPN notifications (secured with verification)

Coupon/Discount System

Automated fraud fraud checking (VPN and Proxy detection)

Customer FeaturesClean, flat simple and easy to use order system

Select quantity via plus/minus buttons, or simply enter your desired quantity directly into the box

Stock shown on ordering page

Ability to contact the seller from the order page - send a message to the seller (received in the seller's dashboard)

Custom HTML descriptions (Image, Youtube demo embedding etc)

Simple, sexy and easy to use payment pages

Product names hidden from paypal (see above in seller section for more info)

Interested in having other features added? Please make some suggestions :)

Some kind of marketing tools, mass email or something like that. Something similar to what Rocketr has.

Might be able to add that as a premium feature as mass emails aren't cheap to send or make it so you can implement your own mail chimp/send grid api

Remember we won't be taking any fees!

This could work easily as long as you keep the fee like that.

You'll also need to have a 24/7 support system.

What makes you think you can compete with other big markerplaces? How do you plan on making revenue from this?

Be quite interesting to see how this turns out, Obviously the 0 fee will appeal to a lot of people & there are plenty of other ways for you to make money if you require the funding down the track. My main suggestion would be customization for sellers in regards to their store, eg, able to put there own logo, colour scheme etc.

I'll look into adding true seller customization

Nobody runs a long term project or company like this out of their own pocket with consistent losses due to no revenue.

Exactly. Give it 6 months until either fees start coming in or it dies.

Don't take me wrong, nothing wrong with doing that. But a serious long term project like this needs a constant source of revenue. Trust me that extra features for prem users are not gonna cut it considering Selly and Rocketr have a lot of awesome features already. Just look above, user demanding 24/7 support. Providing that (required) feature costs money or time (or both). Running shit like this has a lot of expenses like coders (or if you code you can cut this out) and servers. If you are not running your own btc/bch/eth nodes, then i assume a third party like Coinpayments is gonna be used, which takes up a fee per transaction. At the beginning is all fun. Then when you see users racking $100k a month and you making -$20 from users then you are gonna lose motivation.

Source: i coded my own gateway for fun, threw it in the trashcan because this business model doesnt work. And I ain't wasting time in shit that is not making me money :)
