Thread: Flagged by Paypal?

EDIT: I made a personal PP, and not a business one this time around. (Third attempt) Received about 160 USD in 2 hrs, and no limit yet, ended up buying something and re-selling it for a bit less, but that's okay because I cashed out the paypal.

I also found out that if you create a new business PP Account, they ask you for a business number now. Not a phone number, but the one on a business license.

My main ewhore business PP got limited yesterday, at around noon.

Today I made a new one, and it got limited within 10 minutes, didn't even have time to receive a payment.

What should I do to prevent this? I would buy/use a VPN, but can't afford to get one, because my PP got limited with around 350 USD.

I need to get back on the grind, but this is really hindering my progress.

my advice for you just Buy dedicated Proxy for 1.5$ then link it to firefox and create new paypal without any troubles

Reset your IP or use incognito..

No need for proxies.

Always use incognito for different PP access even cleaning cookies if you not using incognito.

Use VPN / Proxy for each Acc.

I used Zenmate in my days.

Never got limited because I created a new one after reaching to 300~400$ in each acc.

Is it possible for you to make a legitimate Paypal? That'd solve all your problems unless you're outright scamming people.

If not then use incognito mode as the others suggested and cashout every $100-200 or so.

I suggest you to not use paypal. Amazon is much easier.

Nobody usually wants to pay with Amazon for me, everyone asks for Paypal, or Circle or something.

Being from Canada, I can't use Circle, however I did find some success today with paypal.
