

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Most inappropriate, funny or hateful thing you've said on Youtube?

owlfy - March 15, 2018, 5:09 pm

A lot of vile shit in the Youtube comments section that I have unfortunately been a part of out of sheer boredom. What's the worst or funniest thing you've said or have seen someone else say on Youtube?

Elitas - March 15, 2018, 5:15 pm

I don't really do that type of stuff on YouTube. I show some respect to content creators unless it's some stupid clickbait. Most of my comments would be calling someone out for faking something, clickbaiting or just completely bullshitting. I think my average comment likes would be something like 150 likes so... I do always tend to get a top post when I do feel the need to post, but I only ever post things which are worthy of notoriety.

? Soufian ? - March 15, 2018, 5:17 pm

I left countless amounts of harsh comments towards content creators. Many of them think they're funny and special, but they're shit.

test - March 15, 2018, 5:18 pm

I don't think I have ever left a YouTube comment the entire time I have used the site.

BrotherTooTurnt - March 15, 2018, 5:23 pm

YouTube comments are the most worthless thing you can do on the Internet.

? Soufian ? - March 15, 2018, 5:36 pm

(Mar 15, 2018 05:23 PM)BrotherTooTurnt Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) YouTube comments are the most worthless thing you can do on the Internet.

Actually they're a perfect way to market stuff.

Spamming comments around YouTube and throw my comment upvote bot on it.

kray - March 15, 2018, 5:38 pm

I once made a fake iPhone give away which got 40,000 views naturally using a video I literally copied, cutting out the intro so no mention of the original giveaway, which was also probably a scam, to make $12 in CPA revenue I never cashed out. I didn't even mean to leave the video up past it getting like 1000 views (right around when I shut the CPA link down, lmfao, oops, one more thing similar to bitcoin I missed out on, except with a lot more moral burden).

(Mar 15, 2018 05:36 PM)? Soufian ? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Actually they're a perfect way to market stuff.

Spamming comments around YouTube and throw my comment upvote bot on it.

Prove I've bought something you marketed to me than.

? Soufian ? - March 15, 2018, 5:40 pm

(Mar 15, 2018 05:38 PM)kray Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I once made a fake iPhone give away which got 40,000 views naturally using a video I literally copied, cutting out the intro so no mention of the original giveaway, which was also probably a scam, to make $12 in CPA revenue I never cashed out. I didn't even mean to leave the video up past it getting like 1000 views (right around when I shut the CPA link down, lmfao, oops, one more thing similar to bitcoin I missed out on, except with a lot more moral burden).

Prove I've bought something you marketed to me than. Chose the wrong word for it.
But I actually use it to promote CPA.

7deadpandas - March 15, 2018, 5:54 pm

Well, I would not limit myself only to YouTube, I've said and celebrated many political-incorrect jokes. In fact, is my type of humor. Everything is a joke. I've strong principles but that doesn't stop me of having a sense of humor.

That said, I think the worst thing I said were the jokes I made. Can't remember any now, but I'm pretty sure those were the worst.

CYB3RM4N - March 15, 2018, 5:54 pm

I think it was "fuck off" (or something to that extent) on one of Logan Paul's videos, else I don't comment much on YouTube.

JoshAllen - March 15, 2018, 5:58 pm

That donald trump wouldn't be a good president and i got a lot of death threats

owlfy - March 15, 2018, 6:40 pm

Yup, Trump definitely always gets the convo going in that direction. The worst I said was under some Japanese video, I think it was "Why do the Japanese squint? Because they are still seeing the blast from Hiroshima".

Ninja - March 15, 2018, 6:54 pm

I got my 9 year old YouTube channel terminated back in January for apparently being toxic in the YouTube comments. I haven't even commented anything that bad. I used to fight with idiots a few years ago in a community I was in but nothing worthy of getting my entire channel terminated. It's whatever though.

SorryOrrnixD - March 15, 2018, 10:11 pm

I have yet to see anything "vile" but there is always tomorrow. Worst thing I have seen is just some name calling or maybe that one time someone was posting that 2girls1cup link lol I guess that's pretty vile come to think of it haha

SIM-1349466 - March 15, 2018, 10:17 pm

I can't recall ever commenting something bad on a video. I usually dislike it then leave.
As for funny comments, I don't know. I have an entire folder of screenshots.

ven0m - March 16, 2018, 12:13 am

Nothing. I am always politically correct ergo stay inside the room and do not engage myself in such situation.

Theocritus - March 16, 2018, 12:31 am

I've said some fairly extreme things towards certain animal abuse people

spradebassen - March 16, 2018, 1:08 am never have I ever posted a hateful message on youtube

I'm such a good human punish me daddy

SIM-403479 - March 16, 2018, 3:42 am

I don't think I own a youtube account

Wolf - March 16, 2018, 3:47 am

I was making a video on benefits of swishing coconut oil and showing how my teeth got really white. In the middle of the video, I addressed the gag reflex some people have and somehow ended up saying that coconut flavored girls would taste so much better and added that you will have to enhance your tongue game to get the juices flowing if you want to get your teeth healthier that way. Kinda went off topic, lmao.

Popstar - March 16, 2018, 6:17 am

I always read the comments but I don't ever really reply, SOMETIMES if somethings someone says is just outrageously stupid/wrong I'll respond and tell them they're a dumb ass though. YouTube comments are the most cancerous thing on the internet (besides Facebook memes)