The guy is so retard that he chargebacked as item not received. You just providing tracking link win ez.

SirLord - March 17, 2018, 3:25 pm

Valid report, no reason to open a chargeback when you're trying to assist him.

Meow - March 18, 2018, 7:04 am

Remove/blur his personal information

People still chargeback for $14 these days? Thought that stopped back in 2013. I'll hit you back with $14 BTC if you want to PM me your address

Slaybot - March 20, 2018, 11:52 am

Bro, Ive been in your "support chat" for three fucking days now and havent had one person help me, I sent u PMs and it takes u 2 days to reply! Thx

Its been 5 days with no help what do u expect

These screenshots add another side to the story.

@OP could you provide proof that you've been trying to assist him?

The same Friday as shown on the Skype support chat I had pushed out an update file for those facing issues this can be seen here. The user came on at the time I was asleep and unable to answer and asked once , the next day Saturday after work I re-ask does anyone have any issues, and everyone who responded said no issues, I even put a message saying that there is an update, incase your auto updates doesn't work look in the chat. The user was still in this chat all the time.

Here is the Skype chat logs (sorry not screenshots in bed sick for the last 5 days.)

Here is me PM'ING him asking him to join the support.group and tell me his username so I can help for me to hear no response to him..

Do I also have to add in the user has previous scammer reps and chargeback reps?

Azixty - March 22, 2018, 9:59 am

This dude.. Such a retard for wanting chargebacked with the ridiculous reason "Item not received".

You are allowed to share personal information in this deal dispute.

Quote:Personal Data

All posts and threads may not contain personal information about anyone. No phone numbers, addresses, IP and e-mail addresses, names, or contact information of any kind about anyone other than yourself. An exception is granted to threads and posts located in the Deal Disputes section, wherein relevant report information may be posted as an image only.

Please read the Reporting Posts chapter of the Help Documents.

Also, note that you can ONLY share personal information which is relevant to the deal dispute. Don't try to find some "clever wording" way out of this. If you act like an asshole and try to share personal data in here and claim that it's relevant to the case even though it obviously isn't and it's clear what your intentions are, then both staff and admins won't care at all, you will be punished if you act like an asshole.

Use this rule only to share information which you need to in order to prove that you were scammed.

By the way, his IP/email is completely irrelevant to the deal dispute. The only occasion it'd be acceptable to share his email, would be if he's denying ever purchasing that, and you can prove that he has used that email publicly on the forum or something along those lines.

Wait I'm slightly confused your first sentence says I can share, then you say his email is not relevant that's the only way I can prove his usage. Either way it'll have to wait till I'm out of hospital tomorrow morning to blur out info
