Hello

I want to know, Is there an easy way to find websites/blogs which allows guest posts?

The traditional way which I used was :

site:domain.com "submit a guest post"

site:domain.com "become a contributor"

site:domain.com "accepting guest posts"

site:domain.com "guest post by"

site:domain.com "contribute an article"

site:domain.com "want to write"

site:domain.com "submit your post"

Is there any software which can be used to do this task? if so, please provide the link to it, It would be better if that comes with a demo version so I can check it.

If in case you provide such service then please ping me back with the price per post(Please ping me only if you have a trusted profile overs here as I will not deal with new)

This is how I do it. Of course for my affiliate marketing websites I don't go this far, as they usually start making money with lower quality links. check out the free training from matt woodward:
