whats one thing you like about yourself? Personally I never give myself credit for the things good about me i constantly focus on my flaws.

spradebassen - March 20, 2018, 3:42 pm

i like my breath but people tend to be haters

I like my own style and lifestyle.

But yeah, self confidence really does the job.

I like my athleticism. It nice to take a second and look at what's good about yourself and not just flaws.

I like the fact that I am a good listener, I can help people with things and be there for them.

Phixel - March 20, 2018, 4:20 pm

I like that all I really do is try and help others, it's all I think about, don't really care for myself.

Not something I'd want to say though.

Sheeple - March 20, 2018, 4:30 pm

I'm always down to help, all you gotta do is ask :) I'll always be there for the people close to me and for anyone who asks for help.

I never give up and keep going.

I hate this question. Not because of the question but because I don't have an answer.

I'm okay with computers because I've been on them 24/7 for about 13 years? idk mang. ?

Honestly for me its definitely a hard topic to really debate or discuss as I'm a perfectionist so nothing is ever good enough. I could be top in my field which I generally fall in the top three and I still don't find it acceptable.

Theocritus - March 20, 2018, 11:14 pm

i like my extreme stubbornness

Exactly why I made this thread I know tons of people who are perfectionists and never give themselves any self credit for the things they are doing great! Its nice to take a minute and think about what are some of the things you like about yourself.

I'm really selfish. That alone allows me to enjoy every situation as I always have something to gain and improve myself, so people who are on good terms with me see the benefits as well. Always moving forward, till I hit the end. I currently have no idea what that "end" would represent and I don't need to as my goal wouldn't change even with me knowing it.

I have the confidence to meet people irl and discuss business.

frsnix - March 21, 2018, 4:10 pm

I'm outgoing, and I'll speak my mind.

test - March 21, 2018, 4:12 pm

My sense of humor I suppose. I'll laugh at just about anything.

I'm able to give (what I think is usually good) advice when needed, even if I don't have any real relation to the situation I'll take the best approach I can from an outside perspective.

I tend to do the same as you though, but it probably lies more in me not taking as many risks as I'd like.
