Product & Service Review Requests

How to request a review.

If you don't know the Appraisers name and want to know more about what we are aiming to do, check out our current thread [\[Official Appraisers\] General Recruitment #1 - Open](#)

We would like to ask the community to tell us what products or service you want us to review! If there is multiple requests to review the same product, we will try to make that item or service a priority. The product or service must not be your own (unless you, the one who owns the service or product, is willing to provide a copy or perform the service for reviewing).

Please use this form when requesting a product review:

severos - March 23, 2018, 3:54 am

Product Name:: Discord PM Bot

Product HF Link:: None atm, still in development.

Basically I wrote a bot that will PM all users in given server a specific pre-defined message while waiting on some intervals to avoid bot detection.

It has the feature to skip users with specific roles such as admins and moderators, as well as offline people.

Thanks for the description of your product, when development is completed, do remind us and we will gladly check out your bot that you've created to review :)

Unfortunately due to the rule disallowing discussing or even sales of Discord, I was unable to further work on severos's request. However, if you have a product or service that complies with the rules set on Hack Forums, feel free to post here and message me privately to further discuss on getting a review done! Please note that I am not the only member that can do this and I do not specialize in every section of the marketplace. We have multiple members who are willing to review your product and/or service that I am unable to do.

Thank you.

Does that mean I'm the only one reviewing? No.

Anyhow, I do not review products such as the one you are requesting unfortunately. But I'm sure there is someone who is willing to or able to review it for you.

Just because I broadly define asking the community if they need a review does not instantly state that I review everything.
I have certain criteria of reviewing products, especially when it comes to programs that relate to remote tools.
