

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Does anyone know a good screen recorder?

ProtectNull™ - March 24, 2018, 4:36 am

I'm looking for an android screen recorder that can record for long durations without crashing/unstable, that also supports internal audio.

Suggestions?

Nadisty - March 24, 2018, 4:47 am

OBS? Not sure about camtasia though.

Michael - March 24, 2018, 4:49 am

OP, you might want to pay this site a visit. Could assist you greatly.

<https://www.androidauthority.com/best-screen-recording-apps-600838/>

svett - March 24, 2018, 5:44 am

I usually use shadow play for everything, i used to use OBS. and i've also used DXTory for gaming recordings. but i would probably just use Shadow Play if you have an Nvidia GPU.

SIM-1589588 - March 24, 2018, 5:52 am

I'm using this one.

<https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.duapps.recorder>

Meow - March 24, 2018, 5:55 am

(Mar 24, 2018 05:52 AM)J.P Morgan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm using this one.

<https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.duapps.recorder>

+1 for this one, I can recommend it as well. It has decent features as well.

Takehito Morokuzu - March 24, 2018, 6:00 am

Use RecMe, it supports internal audio but it needs root.

ProtectNull™ - March 24, 2018, 7:04 am

(Mar 24, 2018 05:52 AM)J.P Morgan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm using this one.

<https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.duapps.recorder>

(Mar 24, 2018 05:55 AM)Meow? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) +1 for this one, I can recommend it as well. It has decent features as well.

Is there a record limit? The current one I use has a 4 min limit which I really dislike.

SIM-1589588 - March 24, 2018, 7:30 am

(Mar 24, 2018 07:04 AM)ProtectNull™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is there a record limit? The current one I use has a 4 min limit which I really dislike.

No recording limit or any other restriction.

Klout - March 24, 2018, 7:36 am

Depends but personally i've used both OBS and Camtasia and i prefer Camtasia for youtube vids for ex.

Frankey - March 24, 2018, 7:41 am

(Mar 24, 2018 07:36 AM)Klout Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Depends but personally i've used both OBS and Camtasia and i prefer Camtasia for youtube vids for ex.
Does OBS and Camtasia offer an Android recording function? Because I didn't know that's nice.

I used to use AZ Screenrecorder which I think did have a limit. Now I use the built in one on my Xiaomi phone. Works amazingly.

Klout - March 24, 2018, 7:47 am

(Mar 24, 2018 07:41 AM)Frankey Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Does OBS and Camtasia offer an Android recording function? Because I didn't know that's nice.

I used to use AZ Screenrecorder which I think did have a limit. Now I use the built in one on my Xiaomi phone. Works amazingly.
Oh lol i thought OP is asking for desktop.

Yeah i'd cope AZ Screenrecorder, no time limit and no annoying watermarks and such.

Mr Meeseeks - March 24, 2018, 8:58 am

I would recommend seeing if you can root your phone first, then you will get access to a lot more recording applications.

ProtectNull™ - March 24, 2018, 11:51 pm

(Mar 24, 2018 08:58 AM)Mr Meeseeks Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would recommend seeing if you can root your phone first, then you will get access to a lot more recording applications.
Well if I do root it, what applications am I looking at?

xphsyic - March 25, 2018, 12:06 am

For pc I suggest camtasia. Recorder is great plus it comes with software thats easy editing liek imovie

ProtectNull™ - March 25, 2018, 12:20 am

(Mar 25, 2018 12:06 AM)xphsyic Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) For pc I suggest camtasia. Recorder is great plus it comes with software thats easy editing liek imovie
Android Applications, I already have a desktop rec.

DonutDony - March 25, 2018, 1:48 am

I vouch for AZ screenrecorder also. :)

Mr. Robot - March 25, 2018, 1:52 am

I would just use OBS for android and either emulate what you are doing on PC using bluestacks or similar - or just connect your phone to your PC and record its screen like that - Just my 2 cents.

Gigabear - March 25, 2018, 4:49 pm

If you have a Samsung phone, you can use Mobizen. It's called "Mobizen Screen Recorder for SAMSUNG" on the Play store (there's two Mobizen apps). It supports internal audio, although you can't listen and record at the same time, unfortunately.