Thread: Additional Options on Reporting

Just a quick shout-out to Omni and the rest of the team for the additional options on reporting posts/threads. Really find it helpful when reporting posts. Not to mention that you can already detail why the post/thread is reported.

Glad to see this edition. Even on 1.6 there wasn't an area to give additional information and I think this will be very useful.

One suggestion I hope can be considered is adding the additional information box for reporting harassment. If somebody is being harassed wouldn't it be useful to provide further information and maybe show further evidence of such harassment?

If they are being harassed in a post which breaks a rule, you can report it for the violation of the rule with harassment in the detail. If it is done via Private Message, you can forward it to the Staff for the required penalty.

Honestly I felt like the text box was all that was needed so i'm glad they added it with 1.8. All the new additional report options are also great. Good work.

I'm enjoying this myself as well. Even though staff are generally pretty good at determining why something was reported, additional information never hurts.

Agreed this is something nice being put into play. Keep up the work.
