You need to buy it.

rayraines - July 16, 2018, 12:20 pm

CyberSeal works fine with #.

You need to buy it.

OK THANKS MAN

I HAD FOUND A LINK AND DOWNLOADED IT

ALL I NEED NOW IS A GOOD DOT NET CRYPTER AND SILENT EXCEL EXPLOIT

Hello guys, im sorry for bringing old threads back, but I got some problems while trying to crypt # with cyberseal.

I use cyberseal for many years now and never had those problems, now i get some framework 3.5 Errors.

I thought Both Crypter and Rat have no dependencies.

Thx in Advance.

is very annoying, hard to be compatible with Crypter. I tried with SpartanCrypter. It runs many bugs, disconnects the client, does can not use password recovery, is very annoying

That's a problem with the crypter not with the rat.

What settings did you enable in # and Spartan?

That doesn't really help me, I need something like a screenshot of both # and CyberSeal's settings since i'm unsure which settings are enabled by default.

got a problem similar to this!!

i use # with spartan, without crypting, i get my password recovered but once it's crypted, the client becomes unstable, passowrds don't recover.

once password recovered and gave me a password that was 4 years old. lol..

i changed my RAT to webmonitor.

looking out for the next best thing...
been hearing a lot about this Yakuza crypter of late!!
Don't know if it's worth a trail

If someone has a configuration to recommend to encrypt # with cyberSeal, thank you for contacting me in pm

P-Code - July 4, 2019, 4:08 pm

id get a proper crypter that crypts native, any should work

disable all so easy

PablitoEmilio0 - July 4, 2019, 5:30 pm

Yes it works but it must be configured and I do not have the configuration because I was using IM5 before but now since I am on # and when launching a client error VB3.5 appear on my I yet disable everything on my build because cyberseal takes care of it ...
