Thread: Another Upgrade Allowing More

IceyP - March 27, 2018, 3:41 pm

I think there should be another update in which allows some of the following.

More post edits.
Bumps every 12 hours
or anything else

Those are just the 2 things I would want badly. I would be willing to pay $30 for this upgrade to my account and I am sure Im not the only one That's horrible and would clutter the hell out of the forum.

You can purchase a sticky or sales tag and increase the number of edits.

I basically am sick of the limit. I have a panel and prices change frequently. I change the title accordingly. Also I just purchased a new thread layout and am unable to update the thread. My thread is on a 1 month sticky. Something needs to be changed with edits.

Consider using the last page of your thread. You can use that to bump your threads.

It may not be implemented yet but Omni and Xerotic were discussing unlimited or more edits for stickies.

Why not host your thread design on your own site and just edit it each time you would usually edit your first post?

So you dont waste edits and you can edit a image as many times as you can + looks way cleaner.

Editting it on my own site is not necessary as the prices are always listed on my site. The purpose in editing it on hackforums is to draw in new customers with prices that beat all of my current competitors.

well if you get more sales then you would have more bumps right? lol

or sticky the thing

and no your the only one who wants this

Step 1. Create a thread image with your prices.

Step 2. Host it on your site.

Step 3. Include the image on your thread.

Enjoy! Want to change your prices next time?

Step 1. Create a new image with your new & updated prices.

Step 2. Replace it with the image on your site.

Enjoy for a second time!

It is stickied. The main issue is the editing. I figured post bumping just another intriguing option. For example sythe is very succesful as well with there 8 hour bump limit as default.

We're going to have a solution for stickies and also additional edit limits for threads with Sales Tags.
