Vouches: Out of vouch copies

Hauntex - March 28, 2018, 4:46 pm

Apart from the guides and such this program reminds me alot about Drizzy's Dox tool... Except it doesn't have the WHAcky effects also how can it be out of vouch copies? i dont see any vouches

True very similar, different search though, and the stuff works, Drizzy's tool has a few important features not working even after alot of updates, but same concept in another way, Ill be adding a few things in the near future,i already changed the font since some ppl dont have it, and hard to read on some monitors, plan to add some options to the search, do some Async optimizations and add a mvvm bootstrapper for the shellview so i can do extra things to prevent data loss just in case.

more or less just having fun in Visual Studio adding things just because computers and out of vouch copies because i had it previously up, like 4 vouches were given out and only one person left me any feedback so i just aint worried about it.

Not atm, im just having bad luck with people (trying to) give things away, my fault really for not checking users first but with your rank i surely trust you, but just too much trouble with vouches got me frustrated, so nothing against you ofc, those people just got me feeling down.

What happened to your other thread you had a good amount of reviews on there.

I would appreciate if anyone who's purchased this could leave their thoughts. Very interested in the product but the licensing/serial system and the lack of reviews makes me a little wary. I'd probably buy it if we heard good things from a couple reputable users.

OP, what does this tool do that a quick google search doesn't?

OP, what does this tool do that a quick google search doesn't?

It searches using some custom URL tags to search google for a list of other search engines,(duckduckgo, internet archive, baidu and alot others)
and searches specifically for personal information,

Many of the LEAKED DATABASE! kind of services use the same thing, except mine is more broad, which means it will take more time, but your more likely to find data hidden in a dark corner somewhere.

it blocks out most of the spam and ads links, but this tool was made originally to show a edgy annoying hacker group that there not perfect.

It performed decently, finding obscure information on even security conscious programmers, at about 1 individual dox an hour.

However, on some of these users addresses, credit card numbers, passwords wasnt found, but if more time was spent we probably could have found that too. after the DOX, we showed it too the group and then they shut down, we deleted the DOX from our machines completely afterwards, as we did not use any collected information maliciously.
