Why not just start with one game then if you have enough activity you can add games and platforms!

Too many gaming groups failed!

Good luck men! I hope you will reconsidered and take another path, and not just adding all gamers. (Anyway more that half of them are just applying for the userbar and trying hard 1st month for activity then they will all disappear)

Region: United Kingdom x

Currently Played Games: Fortnite, CSGO, WoW, GTA V and other random games.

What can you bring to Skill? I generally love gaming tbf and think I would fit in to your community well, I'm down for anything really and generally could get on w a majority of people meaning I think I could fit into your community with ease.

I have been playing games since I was 7-8 and started playing competitively when I was 12 till 15/16 but that died down quickly after exams hit. I just play for fun now but occasionally attempt to play skill based competitions but in all honesty I'm definitely not the best anymore. ?

Why do you want to join Skill? I've been around HF for awhile now and always see your group badge, generally looks cool and sounds like a pretty chill community to be apart of. I play the odd games w my friends but haven't been part of a community that plays games in a long time, not for a few years at least.

I've never been apart of a group on HF and this group seems like the perfect place to start, seems ideal tbh. The sub-forum also seems pretty cool and would be a great pleasure being apart of that.

To be completely honest I don't want to play any Battle Royal games, Fornite or PUBG, they've seem to bore me like Thanos with politics. Hoping to get re-accepted to become part of a new gaming family, as time has changed so have the members participating within this group.
