Thread: [\[Lynx KIK\] Stable now? What KIK Version & Emulator do YOU use?](#)

.KPG. - April 2, 2018, 2:36 am

So I'm eWhoring about 4 years now.

I got the best experience yet, with the NOX Emulator with the original KIK Version, but the oldest client that supports Fake Camera!

I know there are modded KIK Clients, like Lynx, which already have tons of features baked in. But I had some difficulties with that. The app crashed and caused me to log out so I lost all of my chats and stuff.

So after a little break from eWhoring I had now, to concentrate on my new Job and stuff, I am considering getting a new emulator or a better KIK fake app.

So what runs best for you? Tell me in the comments baby!

Greetings,

KPG

Other versions that I tried haven't been that stable : LynxStock, LynxX, LynxTwo

Thank you for your reply.

Do the errors cause you to losing the chats after reinstalling?

EDIT: Also, you mean this one?

If you use nox follow this guide to change the launcher

it makes for a better experience

Hi!

Tried few moded clients on nox today - freshest lynx, lynx bliss, k+, matrik and i think oldest lynx.

Unfortunately fake cam/posting img for live cam did not work on any of them.

So i just got official kik 7.2.2.XX (one that is used in this guide) with fake cam (top from google store) and it works smoothly.

Only annoying this is that you need to import every picture to nox, before using it - you can't just post from every win location like in bluestack.

Ps. win 8.1* here

The only issue is that the picture reverts back to a gallery one if you try to forward it to another user. Any tips on resolving this problem?
