Story: Came home from work late night a couple of days ago. Went straight to bed and fell asleep instantly had a dream that i was playing some games on my PC then all of a sudden i hear a knock at the front door. I went to go see who it was and when i opened the door there was nothing there, I walked out side and saw this Floating thing with Teeth, 3 eyes and it was dripping it self on the floor, I looked at it and it looked at me back with all 3 then charged at me. Then i woke up. Scariest shit ever. The drawing it was i saw in the nightmare.

TL;DR: Had a Nightmare about a monster and drew it out

Looks pretty cool, that's a good idea to draw them out.

I can't remember most of my dreams after an hour of waking up.
