Thread: Hey guys! I'm participating in a remix contest, would appreciate your support!

Deal - April 2, 2018, 10:14 am

Hello guys, I recently uploaded my entry to a remix contest that I'm participating in.

The contest ends the day after tomorrow, and I just found out that exposure of my track on the page increases consideration.

I just finished the track as one of the late birds, which means that I'm now in quite of a hurry to get a little bit of exposure.

I'd really appreciate it if you would take the time to listen to my track, vote for it if you like it, and maybe give me some feedback so I can further improve, this is not a style that I usually work with. My vision with this remix was to make a mix between a chill trap beat and a banger, with a melodic twist.

If you guys have any questions regarding music production, hardware, software, or general sound design, please ask. :)

Here is the link for you to listen:

Sounds cool, I am more into analogue acoustic style recording, but this seems good for the genre.

Just voted for you, I think, first I got some weird error but tried again and I'm pretty sure it worked alright.

Good luck! Nice track.
