Description

So Mr. Robot had a service for XMR mining and the deal was that I send him $1750 (.2btc) to make $6k/month but it turned out that he asked me for my XMR wallet address and told me he will provide the setup for me and instructed me to just check the wallet the next few days then after the next couple of days there was nothing in the wallet and i kept messaging him but he kept ignoring me until i posted on his thread again and he is now in denial about our deal. (most messages were done through privnote.com)

Do you have actual messages you can post?

kookur - April 3, 2018, 7:03 pm

All you show is "XMR" title in messages, can you add more proofs about the deal and conversation you had with him?

Meow - April 3, 2018, 7:08 pm

Uh, could you post the entire conversation you had with him?

Yea I meant screenshots of those PMs. I should have been more specific mvmt - April 3, 2018, 8:04 pm

While this is most likely true, sadly it won't hold up as you don't really have any proof since he sent you privnotes and you didn't screenshot them.

He'll come on here and deny everything, as usual. Sorry about your loss man, the pathological liar strikes again.

DOG - April 3, 2018, 8:08 pm

So basically you have no proof... You should have dealt and sent money via PM on HF. Your DD is not valid.

Enzio - April 3, 2018, 8:08 pm

Lmao. Privnote. He sure got you there.

Of course this is invalid cause the messages on privnote will be destroyed so you can't provide much proof.

He thought it through.

I remember that scam report lol.

However even if he doesn't respond it will make him look more suspect, regardless of the proof or not.

I know if someone made a report on me that was false I would respond because it slanders my name, and gives the impression of risk with other users that would want to deal with me in the future

What OP posted is atleast proof they had some sort of deal going on, but sadly he didn't protect himself by documenting everything. Nevertheless I hope Robot is innocent.

Crypt - April 3, 2018, 11:49 pm

Sends $1,750 to someone you don't know, that person uses a messaging system designed to delete messages so they can't be re-read and it doesn't sound like there's any reason for you to believe there will be a return value.

Sucks you lost that money (not saying this is a valid scam report because you haven't posted the PM's) but you can blame your ignorance.

Mr. Robot - April 4, 2018, 3:23 am

Only just seen this now, dude you PMd me asking for botnet setup + certain things not allowed to be discussed on HF which is why we continued to talk over privnote.

I don't condone fraud that's for fucking sure as I told you.

You didn't pay me shit, I gave you the entire setup method for free and expected payment after which never happened. I then asked you if you would like to talk out of privnote for the sake of the transaction to which you said it was better nobody knew what you were trying to do.

Don't come at me with that bullshit, I have told many users my setup method and they have either paid or respected my help and offered me bots they pay for.

All in all, unless you had offsite contact with a user pretending to be me after you commented on my thread - You should at least give me my $750 for the assistance.

I believe I sent the first privnote which contained a discord link to join as HF blocks them out. The conversation continued from then, he replied in privnote.

Will add my inbetweens shortly, I sent him a discord link after he said 'when can we get started' to which he replied in privnote that he couldn't due to wanting to keep himself private.

I replied to him in a privnote to his response about keeping private - no money was exchanged.

I highly doubt this is true, the fact that you joined March 2018, have 6 posts and 3 threads, but was willing to spend over 1.7k on a forum you clearly are extremely new to puts serious doubts in my mind. Though it could be true, seriously doubt it is. Hope this gets resolved anyway.

this gets resolved anyway.

Even though much of HF's community is under 15, there is still a large proportion which isn't. Therefore, $1.7k for a deal to get something in return to make much more does seem like a deal someone would take if he/she wants to work. Its not really much compared to the promised earnings.

Regardless, best of luck to both the parties with their resolution.

Yes but titles doesn't say much.

This is what Robot commented regarding the threads and it checks out:

Quote:From top to bottom.

zna123 wasn't me as confirmed by Omni.

Kruel was repaid - only legitimate one. This was caused by his involvement with the below scammer (dr1ps + Fade)

Dr1ps was counter disputed for his unfinished work after 11months of swindling cash from Kruel and I.

1 troll - Wakka.

Dauxy was to build a website/forum for a budget of $80 I believe then tried swindling more after using a free theme.

I see what you're saying, dealing with him results in complex situations. But just because his UID is in a title together with a sum doesn't mean that it's valid.

Just saying. Long-time member, deals everyday, a few which has resulted poorly. Doesn't seem like it've always been his fault.

Long term member or not the best thing to do is trust no one and only go to people in methods of payment that keep you and the seller secure. That way you don't fall into members tricks who've been around for a while. To be honest I find that the most silly thing when members have been around for years and think that it's okay to pull off shady shit. Good luck getting this solved OP. I feel bad for you mate.

Cause it's easier to scam when you're a reputable user. So waiting years to scam thousands isn't that bad of an idea.

I mean I've had the chance to scam for 10-15k a few months ago. It wouldnt be possible to do so if I was a regular user. Ya feel me?

Is this the first scam report that contains privnote? Because in all honesty, I might fall to this scam (not accusing). I mean if you're anxious to get a deal done, you might overlook the fact that they do self-destroy, + when you deal with someone with outstanding rep, you kinda sometimes just blindly put trust into people.

1. That's not my bitcoin address.

3. Your lucky what was said was over privnote or you'd be running for your fucking life right about now.

To the other users still saying 'why wouldn't you reply more often to a thread with a $1700 price tag' - I make more than that a week.

I don't know what OPs issues are, I don't really care to be honest with you. I didn't receive money from OP or come to a conclusion with him to send anything at all. Everything after is just him being childish due to the fraud he tried to implicate me in.

Linking these together, KrueL put money in for a gambling site we were working on - Fade took Thiizics money(his investor) and didn't pay our developer. I ended up paying everyone out so they could all fuck off and I lost close to 30k in total. (developer took 11 months to create a login page) LOOOOOOL.

That alone ruins your credibility right there, if anyone actually looked into the thread they would realize nothing you say ever lines up. I think you are either delusional and have problems with comprehensive thinking or maybe you just are that desperate to look successful and professional on the internet. Not enough info to blame either. OP has not explained why his attached wallet was empty of transactions and left other people to speculate.

Then again there are some good theories against the other party, but no proof.. ..and some more dodgy ones Like the vacation accusation lol

We would know more if OP provided his blockchain transaction info and say why he used it that way.

Also he should have valid reason for supposedly trusting 1750 USD on a stranger in some shady online forum promising money back.

I bet 50% of the people posting this topic would risk their HF account for such amount, so anything is possible.

"Robot took advantage of that by constantly asking for stupid changes, therefore delaying the project a big time. Instead of fixing bugs and pentesting, I spent my time changing the layout 100 times because it didn't look exactly like he wanted it when everyone else said it was perfect.

We were to launch months ago, but because of his stupidity the website is still not considered launched, which cost me I don't even know how much since I had to give up on other projects in order to work on this for free all these months.

At a later point, to enrich the offer he told me he would kick Fade and Thiizic from the team, so that it would be our project. According to him, Fade wasn't involved with the project at all, and he would just buyout Thiizic.

I wasn't going to mention this, but he decided to take my work and spoil my name so he deserves it.

So at this point everything looks good and I'm asking to schedule a launch so we can do it right this time. Again, he refuses to launch because "the website is not complete" and gives me a list of stuff he wants done. I was obviously not going to spend any more working hours since he was delaying the launch again and we had to launch. I told him I would complete his whole list, but for $80. He says he doesn't have that much and offers me $40 instead. I told him I'm doing it for $80 because $80 is shit itself, or we're launching. After saying that he revoked my access from everywhere and kicked me from the Discord channels."

HES LITERALLY ACCUSING YOU FOR THIS WHOLE THREAD AND YOU'RE LINKING IT? LOL WUT
