Thread: Selling meme air fresheners.com fully setup e-commerce business

czok - April 7, 2018, 3:30 am

Hi,

I started the niche site around 3-4 months ago and it's had a few sales from Facebook and Ebay without any paid advertising. The site is at the top for the search term 'meme air fresheners' but not sure it gets that much traffic from it.

memeairfresheners.com

Reason for selling: I don't have time for this project due to the success of my other businesses.

Includes:

- All site files and emails
- 7 Months + of domain left
- Facebook & Instagram
- Supplier information
- All design files

If you have any questions let me know.

Auctions ends: 12/04/18

You could probably make this one work yourself just by changing the design of the page, adding more products, and doing more intense advertising.

I don't have the time to work on this along side my other businesses.

Does the place you're buying the product from have more than 2 air fresheners to offer? Also, have you had any pre-orders?

The products are designed by myself. Yes there have been a good amount of orders considering the little advertisement.

This actually sounds like a promising idea, but the name is shit - not going to lie. If you thought of a better name for it, and the website was setup #(You said you didn't have time, the site actually needs to be designed, and not just woocommerce activated). Someone with the right skills, and time could make this profitable - after changing the name of course.

Well the name is exactly what it is so I don't see the issue? Yes, the site could do with improving but in my opinion it's better to get things up and running quickly, then spend the time and money on development costs.

Any questions just let me know.
