Anyone happens to know some good Japanese TV series with some good comedy?
Would be awesome if it's something like "Big Bang theory" or "Silicon valley"

I've seen some of those comedy contests, but I was looking for something with some story behind rather than being random.

1. The Family (2007–) A unique observational series that documents the universal themes of family life, as British families open their doors to viewers.

2. Liar Game (2007–) Kanzaki Nao is an honest college student who receives a hundred million yen one day, along with a card saying she has been chosen to take part in the "Liar Game". The aim of the game is to trick the other players out of their hundred million dollars. At the end, the winner gets the hundred million and the loser is a hundred million yen in debt. The next day, she receives notification that her opponent is her former teacher, Fujisawa Kazuo. She goes to him, seeking help, but ends up getting tricked into handing her money over. Desperate, she approaches the police for help, but they are unable to do anything. However, she is told of a mastermind swindler, Akiyama Shinichi, who is to be released from jail the next day. Desperate, she goes to him for help.

3. Change (2008–) With the deaths of ruling party's Fukuoka Member of Parliament and his eldest son, his heir apparent, in an plane accident, a by-election had to be held right away and, Kanbayashi Masaichi, the House secretary of the ruling party, conceived the idea of fielding the second son, Asakura Keita, and sent his secretary Miyama Rika to complete the task.
