Awesome domain! What forum software is that?

Decent name for a forum. Good theme design. I like that it's mobile friendly.

If it's a brand new forum than it definitely seems like it has a decent level of activity for starting out.

The issue I have with it is it has similar sections to Hackforums. I've tried starting sites like that myself minus the hacking section and it failed. I know of other sites with the same thing.

Nobody wants to join a site that is like HF (whether that means it has the EXACT same layout as HF or it has the same sections as HF) but doesn't have the activity of HF. That's the reason I will not be joining your forum, I see it has some potential maybe for the ban evaders and scammers who have long been closed but I don't see it succeeding because it doesn't really have a subject that you can't find here. The crypto section on HF is one of the most popular sections of this entire site and that says something as HF is Mybb's largest and most active forum.

Hi,

Thanks for your feedback it helps us allot!

We are going into a more autonomous life and we want to have the option to handle payments in the forum itself.

So you can sell your item get paid without having to do anything then wait for the funds to be sent to your address
