Thread: Any way to get OSBuddy Pro free or cheaper \(sharing acc?\)?

Inserenity - April 11, 2018, 2:09 am

Hey,

Not sure if it is entirely possible but would anyone know a way to get OSBuddy Pro (OSRS Client) for free or where I could pay to share an account or buy an already pro account somewhere?

I really want pro but simply cannot afford almost $5 AUD/month for the Pro version, along with the price of membership for OSRS itself soon to be increasing.

Thanks anyone who can help out <3

I've canceled mine last month, I got 4 days left if you want to use it?

That would be great! I would very much appreciate that while I search for something more permanent, just swing me a PM.

Thank you so much! :)

Never heard of it and I can't find any videos or anything on it, probably wouldn't use it myself just for that reason.

Does it have an Open GL feature out of curiosity?

Why?

Use this client OP <https://runelite.net/>

Has everything OSB PRO has + its open src and doesn't take up nearly as much processing power.

As Dean said above your post. The owner leaked a user's IP via Twitter in exchange for anyone to DDOS the guy for a mere $10 BTC because he was butthurt over the guy.

Awesome way to kill your userbase.

That's possible, but as the owner of a pretty big client that's where you just gotta be the bigger man.
I mean if you don't wanna take a big hit to your business that is.

runelite and konduit are VERY good alternatives to osbuddy by the way

i'd use them rather than paying for osbuddy pro

Linkin Park - April 11, 2018, 2:06 pm

Runelite has some shade around it. I remember issues with Runeloder a few months back too but didn't pay any attention to it.

I use Osbuddy Pro and also Konduit. Konduit is free but has a load of features, and a few that OSB don't.

Halden - April 11, 2018, 3:26 pm

I thought all that runelite crap already got debunked? But yeah there is a lot of good free ones so no even need for OSBuddy.

Thanks for your suggestions guys. As of now I am sharing an account with an incredible HF user until I find something more permanent. I would love to hear any more suggestions relating to the original post :)

Your best bet would be to continue to account share. I've never seen any method to get pro cheaper than the going rate.

That would be RuneLoader, not RuneLite.

You should check out "RuneLite" bro. I just switched from OSB Pro to it. It's an open source client, way better than OSB imo.

I've only been using it for a few days but I love it so far, it's got a ton of features.
