Thread: [Beta test my forum | Feature List \[Beta Closed\]](#)

Wires - April 13, 2018, 8:36 pm

I'm excited to be building a new forum with a partner of mine. The potential growth of this forum is predicted to be huge so I'm opening up a welcome to a bunch of beta testers to get this rolling. I'm going to be releasing somewhat of a feature list which will include current features, features being worked on, and upcoming planned features. The end goal of this forum is to create a safer marketplace to trade in where general discussions can coexist. Here's a small list of features:

Fully responsive theme

Desktop Push Notifications

Safe Trading Verification System*

Hooked Awards & Credits into default forum functions (i.e avatar changing, market etc.)

Trader Reputation System

* Safe Trading Verification System - Know who you trade with. Upon acceptance of both recipients, users can begin trading safely after exchanging verified (the address is actually yours) payment processor details.

So, who's going to be one of the first few to beta test? ?

I'm also eager to hear what features you'd like to see.

Ice. - April 13, 2018, 8:54 pm

I'm happy to see that your creating custom plugins, I think this forums might go big as allot of new forums don't have custom plugins.

N1ghtm4re - April 23, 2018, 9:07 am

Honestly I wasn't all that impressed with the theme, but after taking some more looks I find it to be quite easy on the eyes and enjoyable. Shows a bit more simplistic professionalism I feel.

Good luck with site.

Geatzo - April 23, 2018, 1:22 pm

Interesting one. Fixed that one early hours of the morning.

The rest of the invitations have been sent out!

Chertoff - April 24, 2018, 1:12 am

The design is pretty good, however I somehow dislike the spacing between the avatar and user details. Is the empty space going to be used for awards? If not, its covering too much area and giving it a blank look.

Hey it's me.

I personally love the sites design and it seems like you have a lot planned out for the future of the site Wires. Looking forward to see what you can do with it in the future.

Wires - April 24, 2018, 2:54 pm

The postbit's recently been updated. That's something we still seem to be playing with.

Just saw your PM. Will respond shortly.

Update: I've just coded a plugin that displays a bunch of news stats on the Statistics page. The top user of every stat will get an award (still coding this) for that specific statistic. If they lose the #1 position, they lose the award!

Feel free to beta test by clicking on my signature.

I do love the theme and the editing you have done like the thread and post bit :)

Much appreciated. You should also now be able to register.

I've just finished coding Automatic Awards Plugin in tandem with Omniscient's My Awards Plugin. It'll be enabled shortly. Be sure to register as a beta tester now to have a chance of gaining one of these awards.

Noisy - April 26, 2018, 11:44 pm

I'll be interested to test this out if you still need testers.

TB12 - April 27, 2018, 10:30 am

I would like to test if that's alright.

Wires - April 27, 2018, 3:02 pm

Automatic awards have now been enabled. Beta testers can check out the Statistics page to see them.

New beta testers invites have been sent out. The updates are coming in fast.

VirtualFrost - April 27, 2018, 4:59 pm

This theme is looking amazing. If you're able to develop plugins as well I don't see why you'd have issues running something successful. My only complaint would be some features are just blended in really close and are hard to see the details of. Userbars for example and the text can be a little hard to read and possibly also the awards on the awards page are a little hard to see with the dark background but overall I love how it is and the progress you've made.

I wasn't sure if you cared if people joined without being a tester, but I just thought I would anyway. Good luck.

EDIT: Oh and for once the email wasn't thrown into a spam folder, somehow you managed to get it to land into my important folder which is rare, awesome.

azydiamond - April 27, 2018, 5:06 pm

Don't get me wrong, theme is actually nice.. not a huge of font though maybe roboto would look nice.

Also userbars would actually be a great idea instead of css group based ranks.

James Burnham - April 27, 2018, 5:09 pm

I am available for beta-testing if you are still looking for help.

May actually be used for a feature. X amount of members who meet a criteria can put their own text on their own userbar. Certainly a possibility.

Glad to see so many people helping out. Thanks for the feedback ?

I'm just curious. Your verification system for trades. Can you guys elaborate on that a bit more? It seems pretty interesting. Seems a little risky for the administrators of the site though.

The system aims to intervene before a trade ever takes place. It starts of with a user submitting their payment processor details to the site as well as sending a small amount (0.01 cents/penny in your chosen currency) to the respective addresses. At this point the user has agreed that the details provided are theirs and will be treated as such. Once reviewed and accepted a link will appear on their profile so users can request those details. From here, if both parties accept, the payment processor details will be exchanged and they can begin trading. This filters out the possible scenarios and possibly more:

Users denying they own ownership of their suspected payment processor details

Stops excuses such as "I didn't receive payment" or "you sent it to the wrong address, that's not mine"

Removes the possibility of clones

My aim is that this system also helps to resolve cases on PayPal.

Wires - May 2, 2018, 5:16 pm

Just finished coding the Daily Crypto Message plugin. Users can now display their Crypto-related tip for the whole of the forum to see.

Welcoming more Beta testers to test this feature :)
