Thread: Potentially Mass Scamming Scheme

Woods - April 16, 2018, 9:06 am

So a mentally challenged scammer has me added on Skype and usually just messages me to talk shit and we usually go back and forth. Today I was messaged in attempt to join his "scamming team." He goes on saying how he has talked to the Greek Scammer and how they will be teaming up to scam members on HF.

Skype Contact: ninetales.hf (yes he is an imposter)

Some of his messages to me:

His talk with Greek Scammer:

As a community I would watch out for these guys, they look like they are cooking up a scheme. ?

No one should be trusted and a reminder that you should always use Mini as a MM.

Idk but a member named brook was almost replying on every thread maybe he was just trying to scam.

Using localbitcoins.com as escrow for exchanges involving btc is also good idea and only accepting paypal payments as friends and family to prevent most chargebacks.

That only works for the retards, sending on a sock5 or a VPN and doing an unauthorized claim is a lot more scary than a dispute for goods and services.

Thanks. Not to be arrogant but I value access to HF up in the thousands of $ honestly

I wouldn't take $3k or w/e if you offered me it because the contacts and everything I've gotten through HF is worth more than that for sure

Not to mention it's a cool place to chill

So stupid though, why would you trust a scammer to split the money for you after he runs away with it? That part just doesn't make sense, you must be desperate to believe that.

I don't think that is being arrogant, I very much agree and I enjoy using HF to chill at.

Lol goes to show how much of a great life he's living if he has to do this shit for fun.

I just feel bad for the newcommers that's always getting targeted and scammed.

That's why it is important for them to use MM like mini that holds thousands daily.
