Thread: PayPal perm limited

SIM-2223238 - April 16, 2018, 11:26 am

I've just perm limited for no reason, only thing I've been seling was some PHP code trough Digitox where they don't know the contents of.

Does anyone know how to remove this perm limitation as it was a fully verified account with no issues.

WatermelonHaze - April 16, 2018, 11:27 am

Happened to me too, on my real PP with two cards linked and legitmate funds from my hf service. literally contacted executive office they basically told me to eat a dick and use some other payment service.

Meow - April 16, 2018, 11:32 am

What is the reason for limitation? They had to explain their decision in the email or something.

They just said, you got perm limited bcuz u broke our TOS.

I'll email them about it and ask what the reason was

Nope, they did limit me for some weird reason saying I'm selling a keylogger or something, when I explained to them what I am actually selling she just told me she's going to consult with her supervisor and 5 min later she came back after told me they reviewed my case and their decision still stands.

Apparently, there is a method on how to get it out before 180 days but I personally don't believe it and it probably involves SEing their support agent or some shit.

Not necessarily, when I had a limited account it claimed it would be 180 days, and it was a little sooner. I think it was 90+- few days, until I received the e-mail saying I can withdraw my funds.

Great question. To be honest, I still don't know why I was limited at all.

They never explained it, just told me I breached their terms of service.

Luckily I only had like $20.00 or so in balance, but it could have been much worse.

Now I use Square, Zelle, Google Pay and crypto.

Yup that happened to me a while back, they said I was selling Netflix accounts which violated their TOS. I tried everything I possibly could and they won't change their mind for shit. Paypal is the worst company on earth, I had pretty much all the money I earned on there($10k+) which I had to wait 6 months to get.

If they hit you with a perma limitation, you did something to violate their terms of service. Call and find out.

SIM-3051398 - April 16, 2018, 6:17 pm

If its a legit account with your name and cards there is no reason they shouldnt unlimit it, unless of course you were doing something blackhat with that account. Otherwise call them sometimes they will give you the ability to withdraw the funds but will still lock your account for future payments.

Theocritus - April 16, 2018, 6:32 pm

basically if they believe you did it is very little chance you will get it back up. most likely you will have your funds frozen for 6 months and then get them to your bank. so most likely you will just have to start a new paypal tbh. this is also why you never leave a lot of money in paypal

I was keeping everything in PayPal expecting not to get limited as it's in a legal name and all the funds aren't blackhat. I'll ring them up today and hope to get a positive result as I need this PayPal to sell and purchase.

I got limited on one of my accounts for sending to a shady user.

Zexi - April 17, 2018, 6:21 am

My friend got perma limited without a right to complain a few months ago for CE and he asked them before he started selling crypto if he is allowed to do it and they gave him a green light.
The only shit they said when he called them up was "PayPal decided to part ways with you. Please find a different payment processor for your needs." lmao

But since your thing is coding related it shouldnt be a problem if you explain your situation.

Ringed them up dude was basically useless and said he couldnt do shit. now I have to write a word document and send it as PDF trough PayPal lmao.

For future reference for other users that got perm limited, he basically told me he can't do shit and can't disclose anything but the only way to get your case reviewed is to go to this url:

https://www.paypal.com/cgi-bin/webscr?cmd=_file-upload-or-fax-outside-resolution-centre&file_upload_for=eup_card_confirm_flow

Then upload a PDF file asking to get your account reviewed again.

Theocritus - April 17, 2018, 6:36 am that is also a good point to mention, it is currently against paypal TOS to do any dealing with crypto on the platform. and you will be perm limited if you are caught doing it. so be very cautious with it

Send an email to appeal@paypal.com with the case ID related to your limitation as for the mail subject.

It is vital that you are thorough in defending your activities as they will (most likely) discard second appeals.

That does not matter as his limited PayPal account is a business account. You can have multiple business accounts.

I'm getting this solved rn
so it was due to digitox?
as you say paypal told you it was and then i see digitox owner trying to defend claims it wasnt but thats very hard to believe his site didnt play a big part in you getting limited.

My paypal was permanently limited but they removed it after 180 days when I contacted paypal twitter support.

I didn't need to give them any documents I just told them that I cannot add my bank account so they removed the limitation.

Does anyone know how to remove this perm limitation as it was a fully verified account with no issues.

Hvae not read though every post in this thread,
Have you called PayPal?

Same for me. Simply said I was labeled too high risk.

I was 100% legit providing everything.
