Thread: Best way to not get caught using GPS car tracker

Jackal_1234 - April 20, 2018, 3:11 am

Hi guys i was looking into buying a magnetic GPS tracker to track a subject but i was wondering what is the best way to not have it be tracked back to me if they find it. I was thinking maybe a pre paid sim car but what other options would be helpful?

If you hide it well enough, it won't be found.

Yeah true the thing is i only have a small window to be able to place in under the car and also i wanted to track for at least a month so i'm just hoping that they don't put their car in for a service or something where it would be seen.

Firstly, I am uncomfortable with your use of "subject"

Secondly, if the individual is not expecting to be tracked, and if they're just your average everyday person, then why couldn't you just hide it underneath the fender or such? The average person doesn't search their car for trackers every time they use it...

Yeah i understand it sounds odd i know. I just finished a PI course and that's how they always refer to a individual as a subject
