Would you guys be interested in discounted hardware, material and potentially virtual items as well?
Could be PC parts, to a sous vide.

All items would be obtained legally and not conflict with any Hack Forums rule. Will be selling for around 65%-70% of the original price, though percentages can vary.

Leave your answer in the poll. :)

This sounds pretty interesting, would be interested in this, if it came to fruit.

That would be very interesting to see to be honest. I'm not sure whether or not I'd be able to use such a service considering I live outside of both the states and Europe but if that's possible then I'd definitely use it.

Off-topic, your thread count is "555"!

Thank you ?

Shipping outside of the United States would be no problem, more than likely.
