At the time of this thread we're about 3 episodes into the season part 2, which already is annoying as it is most likely a marketing choice. The intensity from Season 3 is still there, however I worry that they're rushing through the competitions than how they used to. But will have to see how it turns out by the end of the season.

Too slow and cliché for me, good luck with watching that, I'd fall asleep.

There's enough fan service and general humor that the show isn't a bore to watch.

hey why did they change the name and its not called season 2 anymore?

I think its a marketing ploy tbh. But in actuality there are 3 seasons, but for some crazy reason this is the only anime I know of that decided to split the 3rd season into two halves, the first one aired in Fall 2017 and then skipped a season to air the second half. Pretty stupid.
