

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: My buddy has a Brain Tumor

Loses - April 28, 2018, 10:00 pm

Nick's Story - <https://www.gofundme.com/hope-for-nicholas>

Doesn't concern any of you, not asking for anything; just a thought I think we could all respect.. We (mostly, hopefully) are much healthier than Nick here. Gotta sit back sometimes and respect that whatever is happening in our 'crazy' life... we still got our health. The chance to fight the good fight.

I sat with this kid on the bus everyday + took classes with him(out of school friends and what not) for since the beginning of 6th grade, and he was just a normal kid like the rest of us growing up. It could've been any of us with some random brain tumor.

Good man, I still talk with him and hes very optimistic about all of this. Fighting the good fight.

Just lounging though. Take care all :)

Tesla - April 28, 2018, 10:01 pm

That's so sad man, like you said it could've been any of us and he just got unlucky :(Hope he gets better man, update us in the future :)

Conor McGregor™ - April 28, 2018, 10:04 pm

Damn bro this kills me.

I wish him well.

Almonds - April 28, 2018, 10:06 pm

Damn man, that is crazy- but I believe he will prevail!

Best you can do is wish for the best and try to comfort the lad.

Narrate - April 28, 2018, 10:10 pm

Brain tumors are scary man, I can't even imagine.

gimmienetflix - April 28, 2018, 10:11 pm

Shit sucks man. I lost my best friend a few weeks ago.. I wish you the best OP and to Nick and his family.

ZeroOne - April 28, 2018, 10:13 pm

This is honestly very sad and quite hard for him, his family and friends. I looked at the gofundme page and looks like he has good support, I wish him all the best!

sssniwerwolf - April 28, 2018, 10:17 pm

Man that sucks, we can only hope for the best.

test - April 28, 2018, 10:18 pm

It's crazy how much we take life and our health for granted until we see and/or are personally affected by bad things like this. Wishing all the best for your friend.

Loses - April 29, 2018, 8:21 am

(Apr 28, 2018 10:18 PM)testaccountplsignore Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It's crazy how much we take life and our health for granted until we see and/or are personally affected by bad things like this. Wishing all the best for your friend.

I appreciate this and the kind words from everyone above! Fighting the good fight

Judge Judy - April 29, 2018, 8:33 am

Damn, really makes me think about how a lot of people, myself included, take life for granted. It's just there until one day some shit happens and it might very well be over in an instant.

Stay strong, hope the alternative treatments offer some sort of help.

Eccy - April 29, 2018, 8:35 am

Hope everything works out well for your friend man, cancers a horrible thing

Kalifornia - April 29, 2018, 8:37 am

Shit bro, this is really sad, 20 years old? I have no words to say, wish him luck.

Try everything to help him - even alternative medicine! Don't give up and don't let toxicity anywhere close to him now!

ahzzain - April 29, 2018, 8:41 am

That's life , we think of great futures but if there's no health there's no future, sometimes we compromise our health to make a bright future , which is worst, I've been through this personally, I wish him good luck.